State Dept. Says Dean Will Not Be Replaced

Scar-Faced Pal Sought In Killing Of Writer, Wife

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—A scar-faced drinking companion — a good Samaritan, at least in pose — was sought tonight in the slayings of the lurid poet of passion, Maxwell Bodenheim, and his third wife.

The man wanted for questioning was identified in a 13-state police alarm as Harold Weinberg, 25, a dishwasher who gave the couple a roof a few days ago to spare them sleeping in hallways and subways.

Weinberg, with a police record as a vagrant and a thief, was last seen Saturday night, about the time Bodenheim and his 35-year-old wife, Ruth, were slain.

Suspect Rented Room

A fast talker and an apparent ne'er-do-well, Weinberg had rented the dingy $5 a week Third Ave. room where Bodenheim met an end as savage and sensational as the tales that won him fame.

Bodenheim's sexy realism in poetry and prose won him acclaim in the 1920's among the Bohemian set that flourished and romped through that era. But for the last 20 years, he had been a gaunt, alcoholic wreck, peddling the ragged shreds of his genius to slake his thirst.

"This is definitely not a robbery murder," said Chief of Detectives Thomas A. Nielson, as more than 50 detectives were assigned to the case.

Motive Is Obscure

Nielson theorized it was a crime of passion, but its motive was as obscure as the final chapter in Bodenheim's weird 58 years of life.

Bodenheim's body was found late yesterday, shot in the chest with a .22 caliber bullet that was recovered. Surrounding him were pathetic symbols of his final failure—a briefcase full of literary efforts that were unwanted even at the rate of a few cents or a quick drink.

Stretched out on a cheap cot in the room was Bodenheim's brunette wife, the former Ruth Fagan. Her face was beaten to a pulp and there were four stab wounds in her back.

Wife Complains MacFadden Has Series Of 'Obsessions'

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—The 40-year-old blonde wife of Bernard MacFadden complained today the 86-year-old publisher slept on a pallet in their bedroom, accused her of trying to poison him and of being unfaithful.

Mrs. Jonnie Lee MacFadden testified in her Supreme Court suit seeking a separation from the physical culturist on the grounds of "cruel and inhuman treatment."

MacFadden previously brought suit for separation, but withdrew it as the juryless trial opened before Judge Henry Clay Greenberg. MacFadden sat a few feet from his wife as she testified.

She said she knew MacFadden about a year before their marriage in Miami, Fla., April 23, 1948.

She declared he had a series of "obsessions."

Way Is Left Open For New Approach To Korea Problem

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—The State Department denied in unequivocal terms today that Arthur H. Dean will be replaced as U. S. negotiator in the Korean peace talks, but it left the way open for a different approach to the problems at Panmunjom.

The denial came in response to inquiries about a published report that Dean, a former law partner of Secretary of State Dulles, would be replaced as special ambassador.

"There is no basis in fact for the report that Ambassador Arthur H. Dean is being withdrawn from his assignment," the department said in a statement read to newsmen.

Reds Must Meet Conditions

"Ambassador Dean is prepared to return to Panmunjom for the resumption of negotiations toward a peace conference, provided that the conditions which he has laid down for the resumption of the conversations are met by the Communists."

"The department entertains the highest regard for the exceptional ability Mr. Dean demonstrated during the negotiations at Panmunjom."

Questioned closely about the statement, the State Department spokesman said it means Dean remains the U. S. representative at the Panmunjom preliminary talks—that, if anybody goes back, it will be Dean.

Different Approach Possibility

But still regarded as a possibility, although a somewhat vague one, was that some different approach may be found to do what the Panmunjom talks were supposed to do: arrange a time, place and agenda for a political conference to settle the future of Korea.

The suggestion was that a way out of the stalemate—a graceful way for both the Communists and the United Nations—might be devised at the Big Four foreign ministers conference in Berlin.

Dean walked out of the Panmunjom preliminary talks last Dec. 12. He said he had had enough of Communist insults. He laid down the conditions upon which he would return: take back or expunge from the record a charge accusing the United States of conniving with South Korea in the release of 27,000 Red war prisoners last summer.

AFL Condemns Big Three Offer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 8 (AP)—The AFL Executive Council today condemned as "cringing appeasement" a Big Three offer to let East Germany participate in holding all German elections, and urged that this country renounce the plan.

The council adopted a resolution saying that despite the fact Russia has rejected the plan, the idea is a dangerous threat to democracy in Germany and "a humiliating and crushing setback for the forces of freedom, especially behind the Iron Curtain."

The plan to let Communist East Germany participate with the West German democratic republic in holding all German elections was offered at the Berlin conference last week by French Foreign Minister Bidault and supported by the U. S. and Britain.

"This plan throws wide open the door to the Communist subversion and Russian domination of free Germany and all Europe," the council warned.

During the night, she said, MacFadden got dressed and left saying her apartment was "too fancy for him."

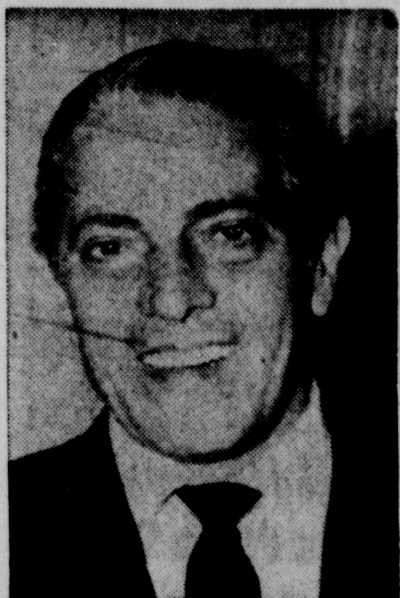

On another occasion, she said he accused her of poisoning him at dinner.

"I was flabbergasted," she testified. "I said 'I don't understand your attitude.'"

"I tasted the food and ate it. But he kept raving. He took the food and threw it in the kitchen sink."

She related MacFadden also accused her of leaving "the window open for my lover to come in at night" although they lived in a 15th floor penthouse.

INDICTED—Aristoteles S. Onassis, a world power in the shipping trade, poses in Washington yesterday after pleading innocent to charges of conspiracy to defraud the government in multi-million dollar deals in surplus ships after World War II. (AP Wirephoto)

Nine Face Fraud Charge In Ship Surplus Deals

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell today announced the indictment of former Rep. Joseph E. Casey (D-Mass.) and Aristoteles S. Onassis, fabulously wealthy "King of Monte Carlo," along with seven others on charges of conspiring to defraud the government.

The indictment, kept secret since last October, is based on allegations that corporations controlled by Onassis bought U. S. surplus ships after World War II by falsely claiming that the companies were owned by American citizens.

A congressional investigation in 1951-52 disclosed that Casey and a group of prominent public figures made huge profits dealing in surplus ships.

Rags-To-Riches Career

The 47-year-old Onassis, whose rags-to-riches career led to a fortune estimated at more than 300 million dollars, voluntarily surrendered in U. S. District Court this morning. He pleaded innocent.

Chief Justice Bolitha Laws released Onassis on $10,000 bond but warned him not to leave the country while charges are pending. Onassis is an Argentine citizen.

He promptly issued a statement denying the charges as "unfounded, vicious rumors" and said he would be glad to have the issues settled in court "in accordance with the fine traditions of American justice."

Onassis' wealth reputedly stems from his ownership of the world's largest private fleet—some 91 ships engaged in hauling oil to Europe and in whaling operations.

Six Corporations Indicted

A federal grand jury returned the eight-count indictment last Oct. 13, but it was kept sealed until Onassis, then out of the country, returned within the jurisdiction of the court. He came back to the United States last week.

The indictment covers a series of ship-buying deals, all executed during the Truman administration, involving 18 million dollars.

The ships were sold by the old Maritime Commission, which has since been abolished.

Along with the nine individuals, the indictment named six corporations as parties to the alleged conspiracy. The eight counts in the indictment also include charges of false statements to the government—an offense punishable by as much as five years imprisonment and $10,000 fine, or both, on each count.

Five Children Killed As Fire Levels Home

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 8 (AP)—Five children, including two sets of twins, died today when flames destroyed their three-room shack here.

Police said they were Jessie Lee and Tommie Lee Farrell, almost 2; Brendy and Bruce Farrell, 3; and Albert Farrell Jr., 3.

Officers said the mother, Jessie Lee Farrell, 23, was en route to a grocery when the fire broke out.

Police Sgt. Anthony Duke said Charles Junius, 21 of New Orleans, entered the flaming building and pulled Albert Farrell Jr. through a window but was unable to re-enter.

The father, Albert Farrell, 28, was at work and a sixth child, Sammie, 9, was at school.

French Warn Battle For City Imminent; News In Censored

LANUG PRABANG, Laos, Feb. 8 (AP)—Advance columns of the Communist-led Vietminh today were hammering at the outlying defenses of Luang Prabang. The French Command warned that the battle for the city, royal seat of Laos, was imminent.

The French, estimating that the bulk of the rebels were only a few days' march from the city, said they had completed their major defenses against the expected onslaught.

(Correspondents in Indochina were working under strict French censorship. Some dispatches were cut sharply by the censors.)

Earlier today, the leading rebel columns had been reported within 37½ miles of Luang Prabang.

Vietminh's crack Division 308, cutting across northern Indochina toward the Thailand border, is heading toward this city of about 142,000 where Laos' aging King Sisavang Vong has his royal palace. Laos, Viet Nam, and Cambodia are the Indochinese states associated with France in the French Union.

Vietminh was reported continuing its advance in several columns, following the beds of two rivers, the Hou and the Suong, which flow into the Mekong River north of Luang Prabang. Some units may have reached the Mekong.

The French estimated the battle for Luang Prabang will open after a brief delay, but individual officers said they feel the French still have several days to prepare against the attack.

The French command said advance rebel units were thrown back yesterday by French and Laotian forces when the Vietminh tried to cross the Suong. Exact location of the crossing attempt was not disclosed, but qualified sources said it probably was near Pak Sent, 37½ miles northeast of Luang Prabang.

Demos Lash Out At GOP Attacks

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Democrats on both sides of the Capitol lashed out today at Republican attacks on their party, and Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) called on President Eisenhower to repudiate the statements.

In the House, Democratic Leader Rayburn (D-Tex.) said the Democrats were getting a little tired of being called Communists or being accused of being tinged with communism.

Symington, in a prepared speech, said that "if these vicious and untruthful attacks continue, the resulting national disunity can only play directly into the hands of a possible enemy."

Both Rayburn and Symington referred during their talks to a speech in which Sherman Adams, chief assistant to the President, accused "political sadists" of trying to foist a "fear deal" on the country.

Dollar-A-Pound Coffee Here To Stay Awhile, Probers Told

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—A New York expert told Senate investigators today there is no hope for a dip in coffee prices as long as the demand stays normal.

Leon Israel, vice president of the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, gave that appraisal to a Senate Banking subcommittee when it opened a public inquiry into price boosts that have pushed coffee beyond a dollar a pound in some grocery stores and 15 cents a cup in many cafes.

Meanwhile, a single objection on the Senate floor blocked a bid for unanimous consent passage of a bill to put coffee trading under federal regulation. Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, predicted however that the bill will win swift approval in the Senate later in the week.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) raised an objection on behalf of another senator, who, he said, wanted an opportunity to "express some opinions" on the measure. Gore declined to name the other senator, but said he knew of "no fight" being organized against the bill.

The subcommittee didn't nail down today the reasons why coffee

Communism Foe Trying To Form Italian Cabinet

ROME, Feb. 8 (AP)—Italian communism's arch foe—tough Mario Scelba—sought tonight to lead a worried nation out of political crisis. It was touch and go whether he would succeed.

The Sicilian-born former interior minister whose riot police quelled the Reds in the 1948 demonstrations, was asked by President Luigi Einaudi today to form a center coalition government.

Choice Is Surprise

Scelba said he would try and hustled off to interview possible cabinet ministers. His program: "... Restore faith among Italians and friendly countries in the stability of Italy's democratic regime. ... Put through an economic and social program which will improve the standard of living."

Scelba's choice came as a surprise. Informants said Einaudi selected him only after Alcide De Gasperi — eight times premier since the war—indicated he did not want the job again at this time. Almost immediately the political ice began cracking beneath Scelba's feet. Two prominent Social Democrats quit their party's directorate in protest over his selection.

Italy On Political See-Saw

Scelba is the fifth Christian Democrat to attempt formation of a government since a general election last June left Italy on a political see-saw. He can squeak past a Chamber of Deputies confidence vote by 16 votes only if all deputies of four center parties support him. Those parties are the Christian Democrats, 262 seats; Social Democrats, 19; Liberals, 14; and Republicans, 5.

Britain Seeks To Ease Curbs On Red Trade

BERLIN, Feb. 8 (AP)—Western officials reported tonight Britain is seeking a general easing of Allied controls on trade with the Communist world.

They said the British government also is weighing a proposal which eventually — if the Western Allies agree — would place Red China in the same trade category as other Communist countries. The Peiping regime presently is denied a much wider range of goods and raw materials than other Communist governments because the United Nations in 1951 branded it as an aggressor for joining the Korean war.

Several European nations looking for markets are believed to be solidly behind the reported British move, the sources said.

22 Die In Rail Mishap

BOMBAY, India, Feb. 8 (AP)—Twenty-two people were killed and 14 injured in a train accident in the Mirzapur district of Uttar Pradesh, according to reliable reports today. The reports said the empty train jumped a rail on the Chunar-Robertsganj Railway, crushing laborers working on the line.

German Issue Sidetracked By Ministers

Austria's Figl Will Fly To Berlin Today For Talks This Week

BERLIN, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers agreed tonight to sidetrack the deadlocked German reunification question and move on to the Austrian independence treaty "not later" than Friday.

The decision by Russia and the Western powers in their 13th session—first one held under strict diplomatic secrecy—buried German hopes that the East-West split of their country would be healed at Berlin.

A terse four-power communique couched in guarded language gave no other hint of other developments from the four-hour meeting in the West sector Allied Control Authority building.

Good News For Austrians

The communique said the four ministers—accompanied only by three aides each—"discussed matters arising on Item 1 of the agenda." This was the Soviet bid for a springtime Big Five conference including Red China, and rival Soviet and French resolutions for a world disarmament conference.

But the closing words of the communique brought cheer to 6,900,000 Austrians who have been waiting 10 years for the big powers to make good their wartime promise of independence for that occupied nation. It said:

"They (the ministers) further discussed also by previous agreement the question of procedure for opening the discussion by the conference of Item 3 (Austrian independence treaty) of the agenda. On this subject, the ministers agreed that discussions on this item would be opened not later than next Friday."

Figl To Fly To Berlin

Notified by France's Georges Bidault—chairman for today—Austrian Foreign Minister Leopold Figl immediately obtained an airline reservation to fly from Vienna to Berlin tomorrow.

If there is to be any real easing of cold war tension in Europe, diplomats look for it to come on the Austrian question. The independence treaty has been stalled for years by Soviet reluctance to pull troops out of this little central European republic.

The good news for Austria only confirmed the bad tidings for Germany. By agreeing to detour around their dead-end argument on the former reich, the Big Four obviously admitted they had failed on this leading issue of the conference.

Five Parachute From Crippled Flying Boxcar

LONDON, Tuesday, Feb. 9 (AP)—A U. S. Air Force spokesman said the five-man crew of a crippled C119 Flying Boxcar bailed out over Portuguese territory about 45 miles northeast of Lisbon early today.

The plane was en route from the Azores to the Rhine-Main airfield in Germany when one of its two engines conked out last night.

Reds Thwarted Plot To Rescue Cardinal In '49

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—An unsuccessful plot to snatch Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty from his Communist jailers in Hungary in 1949 came to light on this fifth anniversary of his sentence to life imprisonment.

Msgr. Bela Varga, former head of the Hungarian Parliament, told reporters American planes had been flown to Hungary to help in the escape. He said Americans, Poles and Hungarians were in on the plan but Red spies got wind of it and hustled the Roman Catholic archbishop of Hungary to a secret hideaway.

Cardinal Mindszenty was accused of treason, a charge the free world has refused to accept.

Reds Fear New Rescue Effort

Varga now is president of the Hungarian National Council, an organization of the anti-Red Hungarians in this country. He told a news conference of the plot to free the cardinal and then opened today's Senate session with a prayer for him.

The Communists, he said, still are afraid that pilgrimages honoring the cardinal will develop into new liberation efforts. So, he said, they keep him on the move and "not even the leading Communists know where he is."

Rep. Bentley (R-Mich.), who was on the staff of the U.S. legation in Budapest at the time of the Mindszenty trial, refused to say whether he knew of the 1949 plot to free the churchman.

Russia Ruled Out Hanging

But he said in a House speech today: "You know there are still attempts under way to free him, either by bribery or by other methods."

The Hungarian Reds had made up their minds to hang Mindszenty before the trial even started, Bentley said, but Russia called them off "as it would create too great an uproar." As it was, the sentence to life imprisonment brought angry outcries throughout the free world.

Cyanide Cocktail Slayer Of Parents Found Insane

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—An insanity report today banished the spectre of the electric chair for Harlow Fraden, the wastrel youth who killed his parents with cyanide cocktails.

But his weak-willed companion, 22-year-old Dennis Wepman, had no such luck. He was found sane. Bronx Dist. Atty. George B. DeLuca's first degree murder case against the delicate, poetic 20-year-old Fraden was wrecked by a psychiatric report that held in part:

"He is in such a state of idiocy, imbecility or insanity that he is incapable of understanding the charge, indictment or proceedings, or of making his defense."

Fraden, dark, bespectacled and erratically brilliant chemistry graduate, is expected to end up in the Matteawan State Hospital for the Criminal Insane at Beacon, N. Y.

DeLuca refused to release the full text of the sanity findings by two Bellevue Hospital psychiatrists. However, the New York Journal-American reported last week in advance of the official announcement:

"Fraden is a 'victim of schizophrenia with paranoid tendencies, accompanied by delusions of grandeur and sexual deviation.'"

Wepman claimed when arrested last December that Fraden plotted the murder of his parents to get his hands on their estimated $86,000 estate. Fraden had run through about $50,000 of the money before his arrest.

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Fraden, died after drinking champagne cocktails laced with cyanide in their Bronx apartment last Aug. 19.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—A New York expert told Senate investigators today there is no hope for a dip in coffee prices as long as the demand stays normal.

Leon Israel, vice president of the New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange, gave that appraisal to a Senate Banking subcommittee when it opened a public inquiry into price boosts that have pushed coffee beyond a dollar a pound in some grocery stores and 15 cents a cup in many cafes.

Meanwhile, a single objection on the Senate floor blocked a bid for unanimous consent passage of a bill to put coffee trading under federal regulation. Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, predicted however that the bill will win swift approval in the Senate later in the week.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn.) raised an objection on behalf of another senator, who, he said, wanted an opportunity to "express some opinions" on the measure. Gore declined to name the other senator, but said he knew of "no fight" being organized against the bill. The subcommittee didn't nail down today the reasons why coffee

ROME, Feb. 8 (AP)—Italian communism's arch foe—tough Mario Scelba—sought tonight to lead a worried nation out of political crisis. It was touch and go whether he would succeed.

The Sicilian-born former interior minister whose riot police quelled the Reds in the 1948 demonstrations, was asked by President Luigi Einaudi today to form a center coalition government.

Choice Is Surprise

Scelba said he would try and hustled off to interview possible Cabinet ministers. His program: " . . . Restore faith among Italian and friendly countries in the stability of Italy's democratic regime. . . . Put through an economic and social program which will improve the standard of living."

Scelba's choice came as a surprise. Informants said Einaudi selected him only after Alcide de Gasperi — eight times premier since the war—indicated he did not want the job again at this time. Almost immediately the political ice began cracking beneath Scelba's feet. Two prominent Social Democrats quit their party's directorate in protest over his selection.

Italy On Political See-Saw

Scelba is the fifth Christian Democrat to attempt formation of a government since a general election last June left Italy on a political see-saw. He can squeak past a Chamber of Deputies confidence vote by 16 votes only if all deputies of four center parties support him. Those parties are the Christian Democrats, 282 seats; Social Democrats, 19; Liberals, 14; and Republicans, 5.

Air Force Unveils "Convertiplane"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Air Force rolled out of a hangar today an odd-looking new "convertiplane"—half airplane, half helicopter.

It is designed to go up or down vertically like a helicopter and fly horizontally as fast as many planes. After a series of tests, the flight is planned for next summer.

The experimental cross-breed has chopped-off wings about half as long as those of normal plane of corresponding size and a three-blade rotor on top twirled by jet exhausts at each blade tip. It also has a pusher propeller, ski-like stainless steel runners for a landing gear, and a plastic nose for a pilot and three passengers.

Pope Pius Able To Leave Bed

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 8 (AP)—Pope Pius XII rose from his bed for a while today arousing guarded hopes he may be on the road to recovery. But the 77-year-old pontiff's physician made clear he was still a very sick man.

The spiritual ruler of more than 400 million Roman Catholics spent some time in an arm chair in his apartment for the first time since he became gravely ill from an enfeebling gastric ailment Jan. 25.

For the third consecutive day the Pope's private physician, Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi cited some improvement in the pontiff's condition. His terse announcement, however, did not completely dispel fears for the aged Pope's health.

Galeazzi-Lisi reported that "the Pope rested well and his improvement continues."

The Vatican Press Office said the pontiff had been able to take some nourishment, indicating he was being given solid food. He previously had been able to hold down only liquids.

Britain Seeks To Ease Curbs On Red Trade

BERLIN, Feb. 8 (AP)—Western officials reported tonight Britain is seeking a general easing of Allied controls on trade with the Communist world.

They said the British government also is weighing a proposal which eventually — if the Western Allies agree — would place Red China in the same trade category as other Communist countries. The Peiping regime presently is denied a much wider range of goods and raw materials than other Communist governments because the United Nations in 1951 branded it as an aggressor for joining the Korean war.

Several European nations looking for markets are believed to be solidly behind the reported British move, the sources said.

22 Die In Rail Mishap

BOMBAY, India, Feb. 8 (AP)—Twenty-two people were killed and 14 injured in a train accident in the Mirzapur district of Uttar Pradesh, according to reliable reports today. The reports said the empty train jumped a rail on the Chunar-Robertsganj Railway, crushing laborers working on the line.

German Issue Sidetracked By Ministers

Austria's Figl Will Fly To Berlin Today For Talks This Week

BERLIN, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers agreed tonight to sidetrack the deadlocked German reunification question and move on to the Austrian independence treaty "not later" than Friday.

The decision by Russia and the Western powers in their 13th session—first one held under strict diplomatic secrecy—buried German hopes that the East-West split of their country would be healed at Berlin.

A terse four-power communique couched in guarded language gave no other hint of other developments from the four-hour meeting in the West sector Allied Control Authority building.

Good News For Austrians

The communique said the four ministers—accompanied only by three aides each—"discussed matters arising on Item 1 of the agenda." This was the Soviet bid for a springtime Big Five conference including Red China, and rival Soviet and French resolutions for a world disarmament conference.

But the closing words of the communique brought cheer to 6,900,000 Austrians who have been waiting 10 years for the big powers to make good their wartime promise of independence for that occupied nation. It said:

"They (the ministers) further discussed also by previous agreement the question of procedure for opening the discussion by the conference of Item 3 (Austrian independence treaty) of the agenda. On this subject, the ministers agreed that discussions on this item would be opened not later than next Friday."

Figl To Fly To Berlin

Notified by France's Georges Bidault—chairman for today—Austrian Foreign Minister Leopold Figl immediately obtained an airline reservation to fly from Vienna to Berlin tomorrow.

If there is to be any real easing of cold war tension in Europe, diplomats look for it to come on the Austrian question. The independence treaty has been stalled for years by Soviet reluctance to pull troops out of this little central European republic.

The good news for Austria only confirmed the bad tidings for Germany. By agreeing to detour around their dead-end argument on the former reich, the Big Four obviously admitted they had failed on this leading issue of the conference.

Five Parachute From Crippled Flying Boxcar

LONDON, Tuesday, Feb. 9 (AP)—A U. S. Air Force spokesman said the five-man crew of a crippled C119 Flying Boxcar bailed out over Portuguese territory about 45 miles northeast of Lisbon early today.

The plane was en route from the Azores to the Rhine-Main airfield in Germany when one of its two engines conked out last night.

Cyanide Cocktail Slayer Of Parents Found Insane

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—An insanity report today banished the spectre of the electric chair for Harlow Fraden, the wastrel youth who killed his parents with cyanide cocktails.

But his weak-willed companion, 22-year-old Dennis Wepman, had no such luck. He was found sane. Bronx Dist. Atty. George B. DeLuca's first degree murder case against the delicate, poetic 20-year-old Fraden was wrecked by a psychiatric report that held in part:

"He is in such a state of idiocy, imbecility or insanity that he is incapable of understanding the charge, indictment or proceedings, or of making his defense."

Fraden, dark, bespectacled and erratically brilliant chemistry graduate, is expected to end up in the Matteawan State Hos-

Assembly Upsets McKeldin Veto Of College Construction Projects

House Enacts Bill To Lift Sales Tax From Insecticides

ANAPOLIS, Feb. 8 (AP)—The General Assembly tonight countermanded Gov. McKeldin and approved two new quarter-million-dollar buildings, one at Washington College and the other at Western Maryland college.

The House of Delegates did it by overriding the governor's 1953 post-session veto of construction items in a 15-million-dollar bond bill.

The House also enacted over McKeldin's veto a bill to lift the sales tax from insecticides and other farm chemicals. The governor had estimated this will cost the state about $60,000.

On the other side of the state-house, the Senate upset the administration on a fishery bill but upheld it on another local measure.

Support for the college buildings was overwhelming. The Senate had reversed McKeldin last week, and the delegates sealed the verdict for Washington College by an 88-21 vote and Western Maryland by 66-23.

As a result, Washington will get a $250,000 gym and field house on its Chestertown campus and Western Maryland a men's dormitory of equal value at Westminster.

On current legislation, the House without comment approved a committee report endorsing the same liquor tax proposal contained in another veto by McKeldin. It would boost the gallon tax from $1.25 to $1.50 and give Baltimore and the counties 50 cents of the total.

Chairman Stevenson (D-Talbot) of the Alcoholic Beverages Committee said the delegates may take final action tomorrow, transferring the bill to the Senate for quick consideration. A House group put in the measure last week as a backstop.

If McKeldin's veto of the tax plan is not overridden when it comes up next Monday night, the new bill would still be available.

In other actions, the Senate sent back to committee a measure to permit trial magistrates to suspend within three days fines of not more than $10 for motor vehicle violations.

With the governor beaten on one of two sales tax measures benefiting farmers, Del. North (D-Talbot) made another move to bring back the other.

He reintroduced essentially the same bill defeated last week when the House sustained a McKeldin veto. It would exempt the trade-in value of farm machinery from the 2 per cent retail levy.

Office Building Accord Reached

BALTIMORE, Feb. 8 (AP)—The state and city reached agreement today on plans to build a state office center in the area of the Fifth Regiment Armory here.

Under terms of the agreement, approved by both the city Board of Estimates and the State Board of Public Works:

1. The state will pay $1,200,000 for a 16-acre site in the city's redevelopment area 12 and will contribute an additional one million dollars for slum clearance.

2. The city will contribute about $170,000 for slum clearance in the area.

3. The Baltimore Redevelopment Commission will work out a contract with the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency for $2,340,000 in federal aid for slum clearance.

4. The redevelopment commission will not guarantee, but "will make a diligent effort" to turn over the first block of cleared land to the state about one year from the time the federal government agrees to contribute financial aid.

Further progress now depends on City Council, which has to authorize the city to condemn and buy the land, and the General Assembly, which would have to appropriate another one million dollars for the state's share on the project.

Preston, Md., Canner Dies In Auto Crash

DENTON, Md., Feb. 8 (AP)—Lee W. Noble, 52, widely known Preston, Md., canner and businessman, was killed in a two-car collision at the intersections of Routes 404 and 313 today, State Police said.

Noble was in a car owned by Herman Schmick, 52, also of Preston. Police said they thought Schmick was driving, but said his condition would not permit immediate questioning. He was taken to Memorial Hospital, Easton.

Officers said the Schmick car was going north on 313 and apparently pulled in front of another car going west on Route 404 about two miles south of here.

The driver of the other car, Harry J. De Mott, 24, of Chatham, Va., was not injured. He was held under $500 bond on a technical charge of manslaughter.

Canada Would Bare Gouzenko Testimony

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 (AP)—Canada is willing that the testimony given to a U.S. Senate subcommittee by Igor Gouzenko five weeks ago be made public, the Canadian Press said it was learned today.

Canadian government officials maintained before the U.S. senators quizzed Gouzenko on Canadian soil, that the former cipher clerk in the Russian Embassy here had no new information to give them. His evidence in 1946 exposed a Soviet spy ring in Canada.

Jury May Probe Silk Mill Strike

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Feb. 8 (AP)—Chief Judge Joseph Mish of the Washington County Circuit Court, told the incoming grand jury today it may look into the strike at the Federal Silk Mills at nearby Williamsport if it decides the situation falls within its jurisdiction.

Referring to the "labor dispute at Williamsport" without mentioning the plant by name, the judge told the February term jury "you should have no interest in whether the employees or the employer is right."

He referred to press reports concerning the controversy and told the jurors they may investigate only whether criminal laws have been violated or whether there has been proper enforcement by authorities.

There have been reports published locally quoting some workers that they wanted to go back to work but they couldn't get proper protection. The county sheriff's office has said men were available but as far as they could determine no one wanted to go back to work.

The hosiery mills, which employed about 400, has been strike-bound since late last December.

Ex-Patrolman Innocent In Civil Rights Case

BALTIMORE, Feb. 8 (AP)—Henry W. Trott Jr., former Annapolis city patrolman, was found innocent today of depriving an Annapolis Negro of his civil rights.

A Federal Court Jury deliberated about three hours before turning in its verdict. The jury, all male, included two Negroes.

McKeldin Raps "Fear Dealers" In Legislature

CAMBRIDGE, Md., Feb. 8 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin said tonight the state Legislature had its "fear dealers," too, and charged they were misrepresenting his program.

They are "in near panic because your Republican administration is approaching the close of a four-year term without increasing general fund taxes," McKeldin said in a speech at a Lincoln Day Dinner.

Sherman Adams, assistant to President Eisenhower, used the term "fear deal" last Saturday in criticizing the "Fair Deal" by which ex-President Truman labeled his administration. McKeldin called it "a natural" and said he'd used it last May.

"We have its remnants, too, in our state capitals," he said.

The governor asserted "fear dealers" in Annapolis have "misrepresented the facts" by saying the state income tax is going up. He argued it was only holding at the usual 2 per cent rate and that a dwindling treasury surplus was preventing deductions authorized the last two years.

"When there were large surpluses at the end of each fiscal year, they cried out in alarm—even though the surpluses were created by taxes imposed prior to this administration," McKeldin said.

He charged Democrats had "shamelessly misrepresented" an impending jump in the state property tax rate from 5.67 to 11.89 cents per $100. Real estate bills won't double because the state's levy is paltry compared to local rates, he said.

What's more, he went on, the size of the state debt controls the state rate and there's nothing he can do about it. Maryland pays off its bonds with revenue from property taxes.

Grumbling Dies Down In German Red Zone

BERLIN, Feb. 8 (AP)—Soviet zone grumbling over the breakdown of German unity talks in the Big Four conference has died to a whisper. Informed quarters reported tonight there have been no incidents for the past 48 hours.

Swift action by the Communist police who arrested about 500 disgruntled workers last week—chiefly in Halle, Dresden, Gera, Oelsnitz and Erfurt—appeared to have smashed the incipient rebellion before it got beyond the stage of hot-tempered talk.

Knowland Assures Senate Government Not Planning To Send GIs To Indochina

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader, assured the Senate today the Eisenhower administration has "no intention" of sending any U. S. ground troops to embattled Indochina.

Knowland's remarks interrupted a speech by Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) demanding to know whether American air technicians now helping the French might be augmented by U.S. troops. Mansfield also asked if this country might use atomic weapons in Indochina.

"I think I can give categorical assurance," Knowland said, "... that there is no intention to send either the two divisions now being withdrawn from Korea 'or any other' ground troops to help the French in their fight against communism in Indochina."

The Californian said the plan providing U. S. personnel to service American bombers sent to the French "in no way indicates any desire or intent" to send combat troops.

Knowland, who attended a White House conference this morning with administration leaders, noted that this country has "made it perfectly clear" that if any major Chinese Red invasion of Indochina is launched the United States will take action. But he said that "up to the minute" information indicates no such attack.

Knowland did not comment on Mansfield's inquiry as to whether the United States might use atomic weapons in Indochina.

Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass) of the Senate Armed Services Committee backed up Knowland with the assurance that only training and technical personnel will be sent to Indochina.

D'Alesandro Perjury Charge Is Upheld

BALTIMORE, Feb. 8 (AP)—Judge S. Ralph Warnken today refused to dismiss perjury charges against Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro, 20-year-old son of the Baltimore mayor, and ordered him to plead to the charge Wednesday.

The judge in Youth Court also turned down three other special motions made in behalf of young D'Alesandro. They asked additional details and permission to inspect the grand jury records.

High Court Reaffirms Gambling Tax Ruling

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Supreme Court today strongly attacked police methods in a California gambling case but refused to retreat from a previous ruling that the Constitution does not bar the use in state courts of evidence obtained illegally.

Five separate opinions, often sharply worded, were filed in the case of Patrick E. Irvine of Long Beach, Calif. The upshot was that by a 5-4 vote Irvine's conviction on charges of violating the California gambling law stands.

The court decided that it was all right for a state to use the required $50 federal gambling tax stamp as a basis for prosecution under state gambling laws.

The court also decided that it was all right for a state to use the required $50 federal gambling tax stamp as a basis for prosecution under state gambling laws.

Veteran Is Convicted Of Murdering Wife

BALTIMORE, Feb. 8 (AP)—Judge John B. Gontrom found 23-year-old Thomas Penn guilty of the murder of his wife today and said he'd decide tomorrow whether it's first or second degree.

The Baltimore County war veteran shot and killed his 21-year-old wife, Elsie Jean, last fall in the Pulaski Highway restaurant operated by her parents.

He pleaded guilty to the crime. A psychiatrist testified Penn was emotionally unstable and capable of great violence. The state did not ask for a death sentence.

Remington Loses New Appeal To High Court

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—William W. Remington, former Commerce Department economist serving a three-year sentence for perjury in denying accusations of Communist affiliation, lost a new appeal to the Supreme Court today.

Remington was convicted in January, 1953 of lying when he denied at his first trial that he gave secret government documents to Elizabeth Bentley for relay to Russia.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery. In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations. Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place. And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months! In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing. All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body. Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H. The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly.

The governor asserted "fear dealers" in Annapolis have "misrepresented the facts" by saying the state income tax is going up. He argued it was only holding at the usual 2 per cent rate and that a dwindling treasury surplus was preventing deductions authorized the last two years.

"When there were large surpluses at the end of each fiscal year, they cried out in alarm—even though the surpluses were created by taxes imposed prior to this administration," McKeldin said.

He charged Democrats had "shamelessly misrepresented" an impending jump in the state property tax rate from 5.67 to 11.89 cents per $100. Real estate bills won't double because the state's levy is paltry compared to local rates, he said.

What's more, he went on, the size of the state debt controls the state rate and there's nothing he can do about it. Maryland pays off its bonds with revenue from property taxes.

Grumbling Dies Down In German Red Zone

BERLIN, Feb. 8 (AP)—Soviet zone grumbling over the breakdown of German unity talks in the Big Four conference has died to a whisper. Informed quarters reported tonight there have been no incidents for the past 48 hours.

Swift action by the Communist police who arrested about 500 disgruntled workers last week—chiefly in Halle, Dresden, Gera, Oelsitz and Erfurt—appeared to have smashed the incipient rebellion before it got beyond the stage of hot-tempered talk.

Jury May Probe Silk Mill Strike

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Feb. 8 (AP)—Chief Judge Joseph Misch of the Washington County Circuit Court, told the incoming grand jury today it may look into the strike at the Federal Silk Mills at nearby Williamsport if it decides the situation falls within its jurisdiction.

Referring to the "labor dispute at Williamsport" without mentioning the plant by name, the judge told the February term jury "you should have no interest in whether the employees or the employer is right."

He referred to press reports concerning the controversy and told the jurors they may investigate only whether criminal laws have been violated or whether there has been proper enforcement by authorities.

There have been reports published locally quoting some workers that they wanted to go back to work but they couldn't get proper protection. The county sheriff's office has said men were available but as far as they could determine no one wanted to go back to work.

The hosiery mills, which employed about 400, has been strike-bound since late last December.

Knowland Assures Senate Government Not Planning To Send GIs To Indochina

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader, assured the Senate today the Eisenhower administration has "no intention" of sending any U.S. ground troops to embattled Indochina.

Knowland's remarks interrupted a speech by Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont.) demanding to know whether American air technicians now helping the French might be augmented by U.S. troops. Mansfield also asked if this country might use atomic weapons in Indochina.

"I think I can give categorical assurance," Knowland said, "... that there is no intention to send" either the two divisions now being withdrawn from Korea "or any other" ground troops to help the French in their fight against communism in Indochina.

The California said the plan providing U.S. personnel to service American bombers sent to the French "in no way indicates any desire or intent" to send combat troops.

Knowland, who attended a White House conference this morning with administration leaders, noted that this country has "made it perfectly clear" that if any major Chinese Red invasion of Indochina is launched the United States will take action. But he said that "up to the minute" information indicates no such attack.

Knowland did not comment on Mansfield's inquiry as to whether the United States might use atomic weapons in Indochina.

Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass) of the Senate Armed Services Committee backed up Knowland with the assurance that only training and technical personnel will be sent to Indochina.

D'Alesandro Perjury Charge Is Upheld

BALTIMORE, Feb. 8 (AP)—Judge S. Ralph Warfield today refused to dismiss perjury charges against Franklin Roosevelt D'Alesandro, 20-year-old son of the Baltimore mayor, and ordered him to plead to the charge Wednesday.

The judge in Youth Court also turned down three other special motions made in behalf of young D'Alesandro. They asked additional details and permission to inspect the grand jury records.

High Court Reaffirms Gambling Tax Ruling

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Supreme Court today strongly attacked police methods in a California gambling case but refused to retreat from a previous ruling that the Constitution does not bar the use in state courts of evidence obtained illegally.

Five separate opinions, often sharply worded, were filed in the case of Patrick E. Irvine of Long Beach, Calif. The upshot was that by a 5-4 vote Irvine's conviction on charges of violating the California gambling law stands.

The court decided that it was all right for a state to use the required $50 federal gambling tax stamp as a basis for prosecution under state gambling laws.

Veteran Is Convicted Of Murdering Wife

BALTIMORE, Feb. 8 (AP)—Judge John B. Gontum found 23-year-old Thomas Penn guilty of the murder of his wife today and said he'd decide tomorrow whether it's first or second degree.

The Baltimore County war veteran shot and killed his 21-year-old wife, Elsie Jean, last fall in the Pulaski Highway restaurant operated by her parents.

He pleaded guilty to the crime. A psychiatrist testified Penn was emotionally unstable and capable of great violence. The state did not ask for a death sentence.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name Preparation H. The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly.

Council Orders Protest Be Made To PSC Over Proposed Gas Raise

The Mayor and City Council have authorized Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, to officially file a protest on behalf of the city against the proposed gas rate increase by the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company.

When a protest is filed the Maryland Public Service Commission orders a hearing in the case. The gas firm several weeks ago filed notice that it was seeking higher rates for Maryland and West Virginia areas it serves.

The action concerning the protest on the gas rates followed reading of a letter from Local 212, International Association of Machinists, in which it was stated the union supported the stand of the city council when it was indicated that a protest would be made in the rate increase.

The Machinists' group said that higher gas rates would only

"aggravate the current high cost of living" for residents of this area.

The letter from Local 212 was signed by C. F. Schelble, recording secretary.

A letter from the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce invited the Mayor and Council to attend a meeting February 19 at 9:30 a. m. in City Hall auditorium concerning improvements to U. S. Route 40 between here and Hancock.

Attending the meeting will be Governor McKeldin, State Senator Robert B. Kimble, officials of the Chamber of Commerce and the Route 40 Association, which was instrumental in arranging the session.

The council also received 17 cards from residents who are supporting a proposed municipal parking lot at the corner of North Centre and Bedford Streets.

Various Reports Are Read At City Council's Meeting

A number of departmental reports were made at yesterday's session of the Mayor and City Council.

From February 1 to 7 water consumption was 99,150,000 gallons as compared to 89,860,000 gallons for the similar period last year.

The daily average consumption was 14,164,000 gallons last week as compared to a daily average of 12,837,000 for the like period last year.

Water in Lake Gordon is five feet, four inches below the crest, and 38 feet, five inches below the crest of Lake Koon.

Parking meter collections totaled $544.54 for the week ending January 31, an increase of $76.98 over the previous week.

The Health Department reported 25 communicable diseases for the month of January with 14 being cases of pneumonia. There were 136 births and 55 deaths.

The city also had 52 dogs and 17 cats destroyed during January. Five dogs were redeemed by owners. The dental clinic had 99 patients with 16 fillings made and 128 extractions.

The Police Department reported 696 arrests during January with $946 paid in fines. The Fire Department made 35 calls with the only major damage being a fire at 432 Cumberland Street.

A balance of $556,402.98 was reported in the general account of the city. During January receipts totaled $74,387.46 with disbursements of $104,824.89.

The Water Operative Account had a balance of $146,988.95 as of February 1, with receipts during January of $30,154.80 and disbursements of $15,054.12.

A balance of $63,863.36 as of February 1 was noted in the General Improvement Bond Account. Receipts during January were $11,188.08.

A report of the Civil Service Commission gave the standings of the examinations of applicants for warehouse clerk and senior stenographer.

The warehouse clerk ratings were as follows: Richard D. Moyer, Hampton P. Driver, Jr., John W. Whetzel, Paul Lanham, Jr., and Avis O. Comer.

Stenographer ratings were Joy T. Oliver, Ruth H. Mangus, Mary B. Shuck, and Joan Spicher.

A letter was received from the committee handling the Minstrelks of 1954 asking that the city take a page ad in the program for $100. A similar request was received from the Optimist Club.

It was indicated that no money is available for the Optimist Club request as charity funds had been allocated some time ago. Provision for the Elks advertisement, on the charity list in recent years, was made at that time.

Herman L. Myers, secretary of Cumberland Aerie No. 245, F. O. Eagles, wrote the Mayor and Council asking them to attend the launching of six "Freedom" balloons February 12 at 1 p. m. as part of a national program on the Eagles.

Part Payment Ordered For Water Tank

With Commissioners John J. Long and Mrs. Lucile W. Roeder voting "No," the Mayor and City Council yesterday ordered another partial payment on the water tank which has been installed on Williams mountain for servicing the North End section.

When the order to pay $5,400 to Meyer Rosefsky, of the Alto Salvage Company, for the 30 per cent due under the contract with the city was introduced, Mrs. Roeder inquired if certain painting had been done or if three leaks in the tank had been repaired.

Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, said George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the city water system, was scheduled to report yesterday on tests made last week at the tank, but Hitchcock was not at the meeting.

Finan said the Alto firm has a $1,800 performance bond which guarantees that the project meet with the approval of the city.

Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, will make the final check on the tank and decide if the contract has been complied with. About 90 per cent of the total cost of the project has been paid by the city.

Mrs. Roeder also inquired about the low water situation at the two city lakes.

West Virginia To Be Asked For Road Help

A meeting is being sought with the West Virginia State Road Commission by officials of Cumberland and Ridgeley concerning the relocation of Route 28 in the nearby community.

Thomas B. Finan, city attorney, said Jesse H. Simmons, adviser for the Ridgeley council, has contacted the SRC in an effort to learn whether West Virginia would assume part of the cost of the project.

The City of Cumberland is obligated under the flood control program to pay certain costs in Ridgeley, and Simmons and Cumberland officials hope to have West Virginia assume part of the highway relocation costs, Finan told the Mayor and Council yesterday.

A basis of the talks will be the fact that West Virginia might be interested in having the relocation work done in such a manner as to provide for future improvements in Ridgeley.

Finan said he and Charles R. Nuzum, city engineer, will go to Charleston with Simmons to discuss the relocation program and possible assumption of some of the costs by West Virginia.

Also, in connection with the flood control project, the council passed orders yesterday for the payment of certain costs.

Donald W. Mason, local attorney, was paid $260 for title examination of several tracts being used in the work.

Lemuel Kirk was ordered paid $750 for the use of property he owns on North Mechanic Street.

Billy W. Oxier was ordered paid $200 for the use of a tract as a spoilage area along the Potomac river in Ridgeley. Excavated material from the flood control project will be dumped on the land. The city was also given the right to cross the land with a sewer.

West Virginia Alumni Marks Anniversary Of University

The eighty-seventh anniversary of the establishment of West Virginia University was observed by Potomac Chapter, West Virginia University Alumni Association, at the Old Homestead Hotel, Burlington, Sunday with approximately 100 graduates and former students and guests attending the chapter's second annual "Founders' Day" dinner.

State Senator Ralph J. Bean, Moorefield, president of the West Virginia Senate, in giving the keynote talk, traced the history of the university from February 7, 1867, when it was formally established by the State Legislature, to the current terms.

"Our university has made great progress in recent years, especially since the establishment of the Board of Governors in 1947, and we have every reason to be proud of its accomplishments," he said.

"The inroads of out-of-state institutions has been checked," he added, "but we must continue to

Conflicts Of Interest

The controversy over the confirmation of A. C. Beeson as a member of the National Labor Relations Board again points up one difficulty of recruiting men from private industry for government jobs. The federal "conflict of interest" law, on the statute books for almost 37 years, frequently erects a hurdle of great personal sacrifice for private-industry executives otherwise willing and qualified to enter public service.

Democrats of the Senate Labor and Public Welfare Committee see a conflict of interest in Beeson's leave-of-absence status with his former employer. Beeson has testified that unless that status is maintained, he will forfeit pension rights in some $7,200 contributed by his company under its pension plan.

Beeson on February 3 said he had "no intention" of asking that his name be withdrawn. The President on the same day said that he had no plans "in this connection;" the nomination had been put before the Senate, and it was "up to them."

The Eisenhower administration first ran up against the conflict-of-interest law on Inaugural Day when the nomination of Charles Erwin Wilson as secretary of defense was stalled briefly. Wilson then agreed to dispose of more than $2.5 million of General Motors stock and more than $0.6 million worth of bonus and other rights. Roger M. Kyes was confirmed as undersecretary of defense only after agreeing to dispose of $193,000 of GM stock.

On February 10, 1953, after Wilson and Kyes had been confirmed, it was announced that Robert C. Sprague had withdrawn as designated Air Force undersecretary. It had become evident that the Senate would not confirm the appointment unless Sprague divested himself of some $5 million of stock in the Sprague Electric Company, a family concern.

But neither the Senate Committee nor the Senate held up confirmation of Matthew P. Durkin as secretary of labor. Durkin had testified that he had "taken a leave of absence with no authority to transact any of the affairs" of the AFL plumbers' union, of which he had been president.

President Eisenhower on June 25, 1953, withdrew the nomination of Tom Lyon (at Lyon's request) to be director of the Federal Bureau of Mines. The conflict of interest in Lyon's case was a $5,000 annual pension from Anaconda Corporation which could be cancelled by the company at will. In the case of both Sprague and Lyon, it should be noted, the names were withdrawn; no nominee of President Eisenhower thus far has been refused confirmation by the Senate.

The conflict-of-interest law caused the Senate to reject the nomination in 1949 of Carl A. Igenfritz to be chairman of the Munitions Board. Igenfritz was willing to forego the government salary of $14,000 a year, but said he would not resign as a vice president of U. S. Steel Corporation or give up the $70,000 salary it paid him because by doing so he would forfeit pension rights.

As adopted in March 1917, the conflict of interest law provided that: "No person, association, or corporation shall make any contribution to, or in any way supplement the salary of, any government official or employee for the services performed by him for the government of the United States." The law was by-passed in World War II, but, slightly revised as to language, remains in effect today.

Death Of A Genius

The premature death of Maj. E. H. Armstrong, at 63, ends the tempestuous career of a genius whose inventions made modern radio possible. He invented the super-heterodyne circuit, a vast improvement on his own earlier regenerative circuit.

Major Armstrong also invented FM radio, another great advance in radio transmission where distance reception is not important. FM never became popular because reception was limited to local stations.

It was a tragedy that much of Armstrong's energy was expended in litigation over alleged infringements of his patents. At the time of his death suits involving claims for millions of dollars were pending. For years he had been spending 90 per cent of his time on innumerable lawsuits.

It seems reasonable to suppose that this life of studying and contentious litigation was not unrelated to the impulse that made him leap to his death from a 13-story window.

If his inventions had never been made, radio today would be little more than a toy and an adjunct to wireless telegraphy. It was his genius for practical circuits that modernized it. But radio was not, of course, the work of one man. Armstrong built on the discoveries and inventions of many men.

Van Bezold and Hughes and Hertz advanced electromagnetic theory to the point where Marconi could invent the wireless. Lee De Forest invented the thermionic valve, or vacuum tube. Other men discovered the rectifying and piezoelectric properties of crystals.

This list could be lengthened almost indefinitely. It was not only a personal tragedy, but a loss to the world, that so much of Armstrong's potential inventive ability was diverted to noncreative activities.

Helter Shelter

The Marine Corps, always looking for new ways to improve its position as a trouble shooter, has apparently fallen in love with helicopters. A few days ago the Marines showed off a big helicopter with clam-shell doors in the nose which grind open on landing to disgorge several small combat vehicles or a platoon of Marines, battle-equipped and ready to fight.

In the realm of assault doctrines the Marines have been experimenting for some time with tactics which would dump foot soldiers behind an enemy-held beach by the simple process of landing them from helicopters which had taken off from the decks of a weaving, speeding carrier. This puts a new dimension in the amphibious doctrine with which the Marines are so familiar.

The latest is the transportation of portable barracks by helicopter. In a test, a pilot picked up a new type hut, 36 feet in diameter, made of wood frame and plastic covering—and resembling nothing so much as the cap of a mushroom—flew around, and deposited the building at a designated spot.

Such enclosures, the Marines are convinced, are just the thing for an outfit as highly mobile as the Marines. Each shelter will sleep 30 or 40 men and can pinch-hit as a store, hospital or headquarters.

If this trend toward mobility continues, it will be a major job for the Defense Department to keep up with the whereabouts of this smallest of all the service branches.

Infant Feeding Technics

A group of University of Nebraska physicians did a novel succession of experiments on infant feeding technics. They fed babies under a variety of conditions, taking X-rays before and after to determine whether the stomach was full and how much gas was present. These research workers concluded that when an infant seems to be hungry, he ought to be fed before prolonged crying upsets him emotionally.

The child should be held upright in order to fill his stomach to capacity. When this is done he is satisfied and sleeps until the organ is almost empty, and he is ready to eat again. Their first experiment demonstrated this point. A 6 week old infant was selected and the initial X-ray showed an empty stomach containing little air. The baby took 7½ ounces in 20 minutes, while being held in an upright position. X-rays showed a full stomach with only a small volume of gas. The youngster did not vomit or spit up and he did not have colic. At the end of four hours the little one was ready for his bottle.

Later, the same infant was fed while lying in a horizontal position. He took only 5½ ounces and refused further nourishment. X-ray at that time showed a stomach that was not full but it contained a large air bubble. As before, the tot fell asleep but awakened 2½ hours later, crying as though suffering from colic. His position was changed and air escaped. According to these investigators, feeding in the horizontal position leads to incomplete filling of the stomach which satisfies the infant temporarily but the tend to wake before the next meal is due which upsets the schedule.

In the third experiment, faulty nipples were used, beginning with one having so small an opening, the flow of milk was too slow. A healthy 3 week old boy was tested on the slow nipple. He ordinarily took 4½ to 5 ounces, which was enough to satisfy him for four hours and X-rays showed a stomach filled to capacity. When the slow nipple was used, he sucked for 35 to 40 minutes and became so exhausted he fell asleep even though he had consumed only 1½ ounces of milk. X-rays showed a poorly filled stomach that contained little air. After 30 minutes the child awakened hungry. This time a good nipple was employed and he took three more ounces, which satisfied him for another four hours. This experiment proved that while with a slow nipple the baby must overexert himself to obtain milk. Fast nipples are just as unsatisfactory because they may cause choking. In addition, the baby finishes so fast he is cheated out of getting the complete satisfaction from the sucking reflex. This, according to the Nebraska group, leads to thumb sucking.

The effect of prolonged crying also was studied extensively. A 5 week old boy, for example, lying in a horizontal position, was given a bottle and took only 1½ ounces before going to sleep. X-rays taken previously showed a small amount of gas in stomach and intestines. After two hours, the tot awakened and cried because he was hungry. He was permitted to cry for 1½ hours when X-rays showed considerable air throughout the intestinal tract. He was fed but, with so much gas in the stomach, took less than 2½ ounces. These authorities were of the opinion that crying not only upset the child and created undue fatigue, but was accompanied by the swallowing of large amounts of air.

TOMORROW: Intestinal flu.

Senator McCarran Meddles In Spanish-American Affairs By Transatlantic Phone; He Demands That German Technicians Help Build U. S. Bases In Spain

WASHINGTON — Silver-haired, barrel-chested Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada not only lobbied much of the funds through Congress to help Dictator Franco in Spain, but now wants to tell the Spanish government what technicians to hire in building Spanish bases.

The senator took the amazing step of telephoning the Spanish minister of public works, Conde Vallellano, to ask that he use German technicians. As a result of the call, the State Department is investigating to see whether McCarran violated the Logan Act which prohibits non-diplomats from meddling in the conduct of American foreign affairs.

Three years ago, McCarran was so active in demanding that $187,000,000 be allocated to Spain that Franco awarded him the Grand Cross of Isabella. At that time, McCarran even called Herbert Gaston, former president of the Export-Import Bank, on the carpet to ask why money advanced to Spain was not being spent faster.

McCarran's recent transatlantic phone call, however, went further than anything else he has done to meddle in Spanish-American affairs. The call was made from the Plaza Hotel in New York, and here is the telephone record of what the senator from Nevada said:

What McCarran Said

It took several hours to puff the call through, partly because the Spanish cabinet officer was routed out of bed. Then, over the crackle of transatlantic static, the operator's voice announced: "I have Conde Vallellano on the line. He does not speak English."

"I have an interpreter here," replied McCarran.

"Conde Vallellano is ready now," intoned the operator.

The interpreter then took the receiver and translated McCarran's words. "As you know, I have always been a champion of Spanish causes in this country," McCarran explained through his interpreter. "I would like to have my mind so clear as to be able within my own conscience to make decisions most advantageous, both to my country and to yours."

"It is a great honor that you should take the trouble to telephone me, and I appreciate your sentiments greatly, as all Spaniards appreciate them," the interpreter translated Vallellano's reply.

"What I would like to bring up is the question of building military bases in Spain," McCarran got down to the point. "I know of various plans which offer great advantages. The one that appeals most to me proposes that wherever necessary, Spanish construction capacity should be supplemented by West German technicians and facilities."

"I personally am of the same opinion as the senator that German technicians should be used in the construction of these bases," agreed the Spanish minister of public works. "I am familiar with this idea of using Germans. Many of the details of such a program have already been furnished to me. Of necessity, it must be received by me and by Spaniards with the utmost sympathetic and favorable consideration."

"I wish to receive an opinion from some high Spanish officials to guide my thinking," replied McCarran with satisfaction.

"I can state," repeated Vallellano, "that I know of no objection of any kind to such a procedure."

Behind The Phone Call

Inside story is that McCarran has been pulling wires both in Washington and Madrid to cut a group of German contractors into the multi-million-dollar Spanish base project. They have offered to accept part of their payment in surplus commodities from the Agriculture Department's overflowing bins.

McCarran is dealing behind the scenes with a man named Estrogoul Ousman, who represents the German contractors. What the senator from Nevada has neglected to tell his Spanish friends, however, is that the German contractors have agreed to buy their heavy equipment from the Nevada office of Wells Fargo, a firm close to McCarran.

New Look At Bases

Meanwhile, the Pentagon is taking a second look at the military base agreement that McCarran was so instrumental in pushing through. The senator from Nevada was so insistent in trying to get better terms for Spain, rather than his own country, that Pentagon officials have concluded it's an excellent deal — for Spain.

Here are some facts the American public doesn't know:

Under the agreement, Spain is not committed to fight on America's side or even to let the U. S. Air Force use the bases in case of war. Furthermore, after 10 years, Spain can throw the United States out and take over the bases for herself. All she will be obliged to pay is scrap value for the expensive American equipment.

In return for this dubious agreement, the United States will rebuild Spain's broken-down railroads and highways, revamp and pump Spain's military forces, re-equip Spain's military forces, lay a 570-mile pipeline across three-quarters of the country, and pour over $200,000,000 into building air bases, port facilities, communication systems, and other facilities that Spain can legally expropriate at scrap value after only 10 years.

In contrast, the United States got a 99-year lease on all the British islands of the Atlantic and the Caribbean in exchange for only 50 destroyers.

A Political Error

A great issue does not die; it may be postponed only to reappear in another and perhaps exaggerated form. The Bricker Amendment is a fundamental issue in American affairs which may now be diverted from the floors of Congress to the hustings of the 1954 election. It can become a challenge to the Eisenhower administration in every state.

The issue is this: shall the President of the United States be permitted to use executive agreements to by-pass the constitutional provision with regard to treaties? Shall the President be permitted to sign treaties or agreements which legislate for the American people? Shall treaties and executive agreements change the laws of the states without the consent of the state legislatures? Shall international bodies, in any manner, replace Congress as the legislative agency of the American government?

After the American experience with the Quebec, Moscow, Teheran, Yalta, Potsdam and San Francisco conferences, it is the consensus of American opinion that something needs to be done. On the other hand, few wish to embarrass President Eisenhower and to give the world the impression that his judgment is not trusted. Actually, it is the conduct of Roosevelt and Truman that has aroused distrust, but the issue arises while Eisenhower is in the White House.

The error of the Eisenhower administration was to become involved in this matter at all. The Constitution does not provide that the President should have any voice in constitutional amendments; that is the function of the Congress and the state legislatures. On the other hand, President Eisenhower is asserting leadership of the Republican party and as such a leader, he is entitled to coordinate the policy of his party between the White House and the Congress. This can only be done by conference; it can never be done by dictation.

It was once said to me that the President can take the Republicans for granted because "where will they go?" This is supposed to be realistic politics. The person who used it as an argument is one of those amoral government officials who manipulate behind the scenes and whose moral attitudes may be less scrupulous than a money crook.

Applied to the politics of the

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The Republican party is raising a bigger fund than usual for expenses in the coming campaign in the hope of electing a Republican majority in Congress next autumn. But it will do the money-raising and the hard-working leaders little good unless they can erase the impression, fostered to no small extent among some of the members of the White House staff itself, that President Eisenhower is politically superior to the Republican party.

The habit I turning up noses at the Republican party with the ill-lusory contention that the 1952 election was won primarily because of the popularity of Mr. Eisenhower and that his party is supposedly discredited, would be natural if it came from the Democrats. But it comes also from some newspapers and magazines of large circulation which supported "Ike" last year and still think he can be pictured as being the sole source of strength to his own party. An editorial in one such magazine said recently: "It's time these Republican reactionaries — many businessmen among them — who are trying to make a god of what they think is the Republican party, were told that the American people don't give a damn about that god. And furthermore that their god never existed."

Will Help Democrats

This is not the kind of preaching that will unite the Republican party but the kind that will, if persisted in, make it easier for the Democrats to win control of both houses of Congress. Snobbery toward the Republican party isn't going to make converts among the independents who switch from one ticket to the other in different elections. Nor is a campaign belittling American political parties as such going to induce young men and women to try to transform both the major parties from within into more effective instruments of the public will.

It is good strategy, as Vice President Nixon and others in the Republican leadership have begun to point out, to say that a vote for a Republican Congress is a vote to uphold the hand of President Eisenhower and to give him a chance to complete his program. But it isn't good strategy to assume that by relying wholly on "Ike's" popularity his voting strength can be transferred to the Republican party this year in a congressional election wherein the name "Eisenhower" doesn't appear anywhere on the ballot and the Republican emblem does.

The fact that Mr. Eisenhower ran ahead of his ticket in 1952 — something that has been consistently true of the winning candidate for

Bricker Amendment, the cleavage in the Republican party over it is straight up and down. Old line Republicans, Taft Republicans, men and women who have been in the party and have stayed with it from Hoover to Eisenhower, who elected governors, senators and representatives during the dark years of defeat, support the Bricker Amendment as a matter of principle rooted in their opposition to the New Deal; the new elements, some of them Democrats who switched from the New Deal to Eisenhower but not to the Republican party, and who hold office in the Eisenhower administration, are fighting the Bricker Amendment.

I am disclosing no secret that the Republicans oppose, almost despise, those who were either in the Roosevelt or Truman regimes and who now hold office under Eisenhower. They are regarded as a Trojan Horse element that has stolen the victory from the Republicans. Anyone who speaks to organization Republicans, up and down the country, must recognize the symptoms of political apathy. In 1954, that could mean a defeat of the Republican party at the polls. Not a Republican in Congress is without worry over this situation, no matter what his public statements may be.

It is possible that a way will be found to overcome this cleavage. Vice President Nixon, Majority Leader William Knowland and National Committee Chairman Leonard Hall are laboring valiantly to hold the party together and curiously, they all look to the strength of Senator McCarthy to count in tight spots. No one believes it will be an easy task.

The intercession of Senators Walter George and Pat McCarran in the Bricker Amendment fight has frightened the Republicans to this extent, that a group of Democrats may take over the fight for the amendment, make it an issue in the 1954 campaign and walk off with the advantage for their party. If the conservative Democrats win in 1954, they will have this benefit: they will not only take over the committee chairmanships but they will reduce the influence of the ADA to nearly nothing.

And Republicans are worried except those in the administration who permit themselves to be blackmailed by the so-called left-wing press.

On February 10, 1953, after Wilson and Kyes had been confirmed, it was announced that Robert C. Sprague had withdrawn as designated Air Force undersecretary. It had become evident that the Senate would not confirm the appointment unless Sprague divested himself of some $5 million of stock in the Sprague Electric Company, a family concern.

But neither the Senate Committee nor the Senate held up confirmation of Matthew P. Durkin as secretary of labor. Durkin had testified that he had "taken a leave of absence with no authority to transact any of the affairs" of the AFL plumbers' union, of which he had been president.

President Eisenhower on June 25, 1953, withdrew the nomination of Tom Lyon (at Lyon's request) to be director of the Federal Bureau of Mines. The conflict of interest in Lyon's case was a $5,000 annual pension from Anaconda Corporation which could be cancelled by the company at will. In the case of both Sprague and Lyon, it should be noted, the names were withdrawn; no nominee of President Eisenhower thus far has been refused confirmation by the Senate.

The conflict-of-interest law caused the Senate to reject the nomination in 1949 of Carl A. Igenfritz to be chairman of the Munitions Board. Igenfritz was willing to forego the government salary of $14,000 a year, but said he would not resign as a vice president of U. S. Steel Corporation or give up the $70,000 salary it paid him because by doing so he would forfeit pension rights.

As adopted in March 1917, the conflict of interest law provided that: "No person, association, or corporation shall make any contribution to, or in any way supplement the salary of, any government official or employee for the services performed by him for the government of the United States." The law was by-passed in World War II, but, slightly revised as to language, remains in effect today.

Death Of A Genius

The premature death of Maj. E. H. Armstrong, at 63, ends the tempestuous career of a genius whose inventions made modern radio possible. He invented the super-heterodyne circuit, a vast improvement on his own earlier regenerative circuit.

Major Armstrong also invented FM radio, another great advance in radio transmission where distance reception is not important. FM never became popular because reception was limited to local stations.

It was a tragedy that much of Armstrong's energy was expended in litigation over alleged infringements of his patents. At the time of his death suits involving claims for millions of dollars were pending. For years he had been spending 90 per cent of his time on "innumerable lawsuits."

It seems reasonable to suppose that this life of startling and contentious litigation was not unrelated to the impulse that made him leap to his death from a 13-story window.

If his inventions had never been made, radio today would be little more than a toy and an adjunct to wireless telegraphy. It was his genius for practical circuits that modernized it. But radio was not, of course, the work of one man. Armstrong built on the discoveries and inventions of many men.

Van Bezold and Hughes and Hertz advanced electromagnetic theory to the point where Marconi could invent the wireless. Lee De Forest invented the thermionic valve, or vacuum tube. Other men discovered the rectifying and piezoelectric properties of crystals. This list could be lengthened almost indefinitely.

It was not only a personal tragedy, but a loss to the world, that so much of Armstrong's potential inventive ability was diverted to noncreative activities.

Helter Shelter

The Marine Corps, always looking for new ways to improve its position as a trouble shooter, has apparently fallen in love with helicopters. A few days ago the Marines showed off a big helicopter with clamshell doors in the nose which grind open on landing to disgorge several small combat vehicles or a platoon of Marines, battle-equipped and ready to fight.

In the realm of assault doctrines the Marines have been experimenting for some time with tactics which would dump foot soldiers behind an enemy-held beach by the simple process of landing them from helicopters which had taken off from the decks of a weaving, speeding carrier. This puts a new dimension in the amphibious doctrine with which the Marines are so familiar.

The latest is the transportation of portable barracks by helicopter. In a test, a pilot picked up a new type hut, 36 feet in diameter, made of wood frame and plastic covering—and resembling nothing so much as the cap of a mushroom—flew around, and deposited the building at a designated spot.

Such enclosures, the Marines are convinced, are just the thing for an outfit as highly mobile as the Marines. Each shelter will sleep 30 or 40 men and can pinch-hit as a store, hospital or headquarters.

If this trend toward mobility continues, it will be a major job for the Defense Department to keep up with the whereabouts of this smallest of all the service branches.

Infant Feeding Technics

A group of University of Nebraska physicians did a novel succession of experiments on infant feeding technics. They fed babies under a variety of conditions, taking X-rays before and after to determine whether the stomach was full and how much gas was present. These research workers concluded that when an infant seems to be hungry, he ought to be fed before prolonged crying upsets him emotionally.

The child should be held upright in order to fill his stomach to capacity. When this is done he is satisfied and sleeps until the organ is almost empty, and he is ready to eat again. Their first experiment demonstrated this point. A 6 week old infant was selected and the initial X-ray showed an empty stomach containing little air. The babe took 7½ ounces in 20 minutes, while being held in an upright position. X-rays showed a full stomach with only a small volume of gas. The youngster did not vomit or spit up and he did not have colic. At the end of four hours the little one was ready for his bottle.

Later, the same infant was fed while lying in a horizontal position. He took only 5½ ounces and refused further nourishment. X-ray at that time showed a stomach that was not full but it contained a large air bubble. As before, the tot fell asleep but awakened 2½ hours later, crying as though suffering from colic. His position was changed and air escaped. According to these investigators, feeding in the horizontal position leads to incomplete filling of the stomach which satisfies the infant temporarily but the tend to wake before the next meal is due which upsets the schedule.

In the third experiment, faulty nipples were used, beginning with one having so small an opening, the flow of milk was too slow. A healthy 3 week old boy was tested on the slow nipple. He ordinarily took 4½ to 5 ounces, which was enough to satisfy him for four hours and X-rays showed a stomach filled to capacity. When the slow nipple was used, he sucked for 35 to 40 minutes and became so exhausted he fell asleep even though he had consumed only 1½ ounces of milk. X-rays showed a poorly filled stomach that contained little air. After 30 minutes the child awakened hungry. This time a good nipple was employed and he took three more ounces, which satisfied him for another four hours. This experiment proved that while with a slow nipple the baby must overexert himself to obtain milk. Fast nipples are just as unsatisfactory because they may cause choking. In addition, the baby finishes so fast he is cheated out of getting the complete satisfaction from the sucking reflex. This, according to the Nebraska group, leads to thumb sucking.

The effect of prolonged crying also was studied extensively. A 5 week old boy, for example, lying in a horizontal position, was given a bottle and took only 1½ ounces before going to sleep. X-rays taken previously showed a small amount of gas in stomach and intestines. After two hours, the tot awakened and cried because he was hungry. He was permitted to cry for 1½ hours when X-rays showed considerable air throughout the intestinal tract. He was fed, but with so much gas in the stomach, took less than 2½ ounces. These authorities were of the opinion that crying not only upset the child and created undue fatigue, but was accompanied by the swallowing of large amounts of air.

TOMORROW: Intestinal flu.

Senator McCarran Meddles In Spanish-American Affairs By Transatlantic Phone; He Demands That German Technicians Help Build U. S. Bases In Spain

WASHINGTON — Silver-haired, barrel-chested Senator Pat McCarran of Nevada not only lobbied much of the funds through Congress to help Dictator Franco in Spain, but now wants to tell the Spanish government what technicians to hire in building Spanish bases.

The senator took the amazing step of telephoning the Spanish minister of public works, Conde Vallellano, to ask that he use German technicians. As a result of the call, the State Department is investigating to see whether McCarran violated the Logan Act which prohibits non-diplomats from meddling in the conduct of American foreign affairs.

Three years ago, McCarran was so active in demanding that $187,000,000 be allocated to Spain that Franco awarded him the Grand Cross of Isabella. At that time, McCarran even called Herbert Gaston, former president of the Export-Import Bank, on the carpet to ask why money advanced to Spain was not being spent faster.

McCarran's recent transatlantic phone call, however, went further than anything else he has done to meddle in Spanish-American affairs. The call was made from the Plaza Hotel in New York, and here is the telephone record of what the senator from Nevada said:

What McCarran Said

It took several hours to puff the call through, partly because the Spanish cabinet officer was routed out of bed. Then, over the crackle of transatlantic static, the operator's voice announced: "I have Conde Vallellano on the line. He does not speak English."

"I have an interpreter here," replied McCarran.

"Conde Vallellano is ready now," intoned the operator. The interpreter then took the receiver and translated McCarran's words.

"As you know, I have always been a champion of Spanish causes in this country," McCarran explained through his interpreter. "I would like to have my mind so clear as to be able within my own conscience to make decisions most advantageous, both to my country and to yours."

"It is a great honor that you should take the trouble to telephone me, and I appreciate your sentiments greatly, as all Spaniards appreciate them," the interpreter translated Vallellano's reply.

"What I would like to bring up is the question of building military bases in Spain," McCarran got down to the point. "I know of various plans which offer great advantages. The one that appeals most to me proposes that wherever necessary, Spanish construction capacity should be supplemented by West German technicians and facilities."

"I personally am of the same opinion as the senator that Germans should be used in the construction of these bases," agreed the Spanish minister of public works. "I am familiar with this idea of using Germans. Many of the details of such a program have already been furnished to me. Of necessity, it must be received by me and by Spaniards with the utmost sympathetic and favorable consideration."

"I wish to receive an opinion from some high Spanish officials to guide my thinking," replied McCarran with satisfaction.

"I can state," repeated Vallellano, "that I know of no objection of any kind to such a procedure."

Behind The Phone Call
Inside story is that McCarran has been pulling wires both in Washington and Madrid to cut a group of German contractors into the multi-million-dollar Spanish base project. They have offered to accept part of their payment in surplus commodities from the Agriculture Department's overflowing bins.

McCarran is dealing behind the scenes with a man named Estoroult Ousman, who represents the German contractors. What the senator from Nevada has neglected to tell his Spanish friends, however, is that the German contractors have agreed to buy their heavy equipment from the Nevada office of Wells Fargo, a firm close to McCarran.

New Look At Bases

Meanwhile, the Pentagon is taking a second look at the military base agreement that McCarran was so instrumental in pushing through. The senator from Nevada was so insistent in trying to get better terms for Spain, rather than his own country, that Pentagon officials have concluded it's an excellent deal — for Spain.

Here are some facts the American public doesn't know:

Under the agreement, Spain is not committed to fight on America's side or even to let the U. S. Air Force use the bases 10 years of war. Furthermore, after 10 years, and Spain can throw the United States out and take over the bases for herself. All she will be obliged to pay is scrap value for the expensive American equipment.

In return for this dubious agreement, the United States will rebuild Spain's broken-down railroads and highways, revamp and re-equip Spain's military forces, pump economic aid into the country, lay a 570-mile pipeline across three-quarters of the country, and pour over $200,000,000 into building air bases, port facilities, communication systems, and other facilities that Spain can legally expropriate at scrap value after only 10 years.

In contrast, the United States got a 99-year lease on all the British islands of the Atlantic and the Caribbean in exchange for only 50 destroyers.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

A Political Error

A great issue does not die; it may be postponed only to reappear in another and perhaps exaggerated form. The Bricker Amendment is a fundamental issue in American affairs which may now be diverted from the floors of Congress to the hustings of the 1954 election. It can become a challenge to the Eisenhower administration in every state.

The issue is this: shall the President of the United States be permitted to use executive agreements to by-pass the constitutional provision with regard to treaties? Shall the President be permitted to sign treaties or agreements which legislate for the American people? Shall treaties and executive agreements change the laws of the states without the consent of the state legislatures? Shall international bodies, in any manner, replace Congress as the legislative agency of the American government?

After the American experience with the Quebec, Moscow, Teheran, Yalta, Potsdam and San Francisco conferences, it is the consensus of American opinion that something needs to be done. On the other hand, few wish to embarrass President Eisenhower and to give the world the impression that his judgment is not trusted. Actually, it is the conduct of Roosevelt and Truman that has aroused distrust, but the issue arises while Eisenhower is in the White House.

The error of the Eisenhower administration was to become involved in this matter at all. The Constitution does not provide that the President should have any voice in constitutional amendments; that is the function of the Congress and the state legislatures. On the other hand, President Eisenhower is asserting leadership of the Republican party and as such a leader, he is entitled to coordinate the policy of his party between the White House and the Congress. This can only be done by conference; it can never be done by dictation.

It was once said to me that the President can take the Republicans for granted because "Where will they go?" This is supposed to be realistic politics. The person who used it as an argument is one of those amoral government officials who manipulate behind the scenes and whose moral attitudes may be less scrupulous than a money crook.

Applied to the politics of the

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — The Republican party is raising a bigger fund than usual for expenses in the coming campaign in the hope of electing a Republican majority in Congress next autumn. But it will do the money-raisers and the hard-working leaders little good unless they can erase the impression, fostered to no small extent among some of the members of the White House staff itself, that President Eisenhower is politically superior to the Republican party.

The habit I turn up noses at the Republican party with the illusory contention that the 1952 election was won primarily because of the popularity of Mr. Eisenhower and that his party is supposedly discredited, would be natural if it came from the Democrats. But it comes also from some newspapers and magazines of large circulation which supported "Ike" last year and still think he can be pictured as being the sole source of strength to his own party. An editorial in one such magazine said recently: "It's time these Republican reactionaries — many businessmen among them — who are trying to make a god of what they think is the Republican party, were told that the American people don't give a damn about that god. And furthermore that their god never existed."

Will Help Democrats

This is not the kind of preaching that will unite the Republican party but the kind that will, if persisted in, make it easier for the Democrats to win control of both houses of Congress. Snobbery toward the Republican party isn't going to make converts among the independents who switch from one ticket to the other in different elections. Nor is a campaign belittling American political parties as such going to induce young men and women to try to transform both the major parties from within into more effective instruments of the public will.

It is good strategy, as Vice President Nixon and others in the Republican leadership have begun to point out, to say that a vote for a Republican Congress is a vote to uphold the hand of President Eisenhower and to give him a chance to complete his program. But it isn't good strategy to assume that by relying wholly on "Ike's" popularity his voting strength can be transferred to the Republican party this year in a congressional election wherein the name "Eisenhower" doesn't appear anywhere on the ballot and the Republican emblem does.

The fact that Mr. Eisenhower ran ahead of his ticket in 1952 — something that has been consistently true of the winning candidate for

Bricker Amendment, the cleavage in the Republican party over it is straight up and down. Old line Republicans, Taft Republicans, men and women who have been in the party and have stayed with it from Hoover to Eisenhower, who elected governors, senators and representatives during the dark years of defeat, support the Bricker Amendment as a matter of principle rooted in their opposition to the New Deal; the new elements, some of them Democrats who switched from the New Deal to Eisenhower but not to the Republican party, and who hold office in the Eisenhower administration, are fighting the Bricker Amendment.

I am disclosing no secret that the Republicans oppose, almost despite, those who were either in the Roosevelt or Truman regimes and who now hold office under Eisenhower. They are regarded as a Trojan Horse element that has stolen the victory from the Republicans. Anyone who speaks to organization Republicans, up and down the country, must recognize the symptoms of political apathy. In 1954, that could mean a defeat of the Republican party at the polls. Not a Republican in Congress is without worry over this situation, no matter what his public statements may be.

It is possible that a way will be found to overcome this cleavage. Vice President Nixon, Majority Leader William Knowland and National Committee Chairman Leonard Hall are laboring valiantly to hold the party together and curiously, they all look to the strength of Senator McCarthy to count in tight spots. No one believes it will be an easy task.

The intercession of Senators Walter George and Pat McCarran in the Bricker Amendment fight has frightened the Republicans to this extent, that a group of Democrats may take over the fight for the amendment, make it an issue in the 1954 campaign and walk off with the advantage for their party. If the conservative Democrats win in 1954, they will have this benefit: they will not only take over the committee chairmanships but they will reduce the influence of the ADA to nearly nothing.

the presidency except in 1948 — doesn't prove that the Republican party was full of reactionary candidates and that the people didn't care to vote for Republican nominees for Congress last year. All one has to do to disprove this is to point to the case of Senator Lodge, Mr. Eisenhower's original campaign manager — never classified as a reactionary or an isolationist — who was defeated for re-election in Massachusetts by a defection of Republicans. They voted for Eisenhower and carried the state for him by a substantial majority while electing a Democratic senator.

Hard On System

The idea that neither of the major parties is any good has been cultivated by extremists in recent years and echoed by unthinking persons who somehow believe they are expressing a new kind of political independence. Actually they are contributing toward a breakdown of the two-party system and the development of splinter parties and blocs.

Many speeches will be made this week by Republicans in connection with Lincoln Day celebrations but none will express better the most important thing for Republicans to say from their own viewpoint than this comment by President Eisenhower last Friday:

"The reason I believe in the Republican party is because it is the best political instrument to serve the United States in this kind of day."

Now if the President can persuade some of the members of his own staff and some of his press supporters to believe that simple statement so that they will not immediately discount it cynically as a sort of necessary lip service, he will have achieved much toward strengthening the party that gave him the nomination and the chance to be president.

The same principle holds good for the Democratic party. There are radicals in that party who turn up their noses at the conservative Democrats from the South just because the latter happen conscientiously to differ with them on such things as civil rights. Political parties have room in them for all kinds of opinion and when one faction begins to read the other out of the party, exhibiting an intolerance of dissent and indulging in name-calling toward its own members, then a totalitarian and dictatorial attitude begins to prevail which can only weaken, if not destroy, such a party. Governor Meyer of New Jersey, Democrat, expressed a very enlightened attitude the other day when he urged businessmen to identify themselves with the Democratic party and to help finance it. For neither party can succeed if it starts with the premise that it doesn't want any dissent within its ranks.

LaVale 4-H Names Two Committees

Two committees were appointed at the meeting of the LaVale 4-H Girls Club, Saturday at the fire hall. Sandra Hatfield, president opened the meeting with the flag salute and 4-H pledge.

A Reading committee was named and consists of Marlene Brings and Dorothy Long. The national 4-H Club week Window Poster committee includes Frances Belt, chairman, Joy Laber, Marlene Brings and Sandra Hatfield.

Announcement was made that Elizabeth Murray was named for the county display committee; and Frances Belt, for the county Home Furnishing committee.

The 4-H pep song and "Dreaming" were sung with Sandra Belt leading the singing. Routine reports were given by Sadie Cessna and Patricia Mace. The club paid its Trail dues and on behalf of the club, Sandra Hatfield presented a gift to Florence Zach, retiring president. It was decided to hold a bake sale at the Singer Sewing Center, February 20 from 10 until 2 o'clock. All members will solicit baked goods.

Two new members were welcomed, they are Joy Luckiewicz and Linda Ellsworth. Miss Joan Reitz, home demonstration agent; Mrs. Holmes Cessna, Homemaker representative, and Eleanor Smith, Trail president, were guests. The latter told of her health record and trip to the 4-H Congress in Chicago. She also showed souvenirs from the trip. Mrs. James Hatfield and Sandra Hatfield attended the Trail meeting and the latter told of the report on keeping records and distribution of program books.

Two demonstrations were given. Sandra Hatfield gave a salad demonstration of pineapple and cottage cheese, and Frances Belt demonstrated how to shine shoes, using white saddles and black suede slippers. Patricia Mace was hostess for the meeting.

Miss Reitz will demonstrate meal planning at the next meeting, when Sharon O'Rourke and Mary Margaret Smith will be hostesses.

Demonstrations Planned

Three "Easy To Make" dress demonstrations are being planned for Clothing chairmen and presidents of the homemakers clubs. Miss Joanne Reitz, home demonstration agent, said last night.

The demonstrations will be held at 1:30 o'clock, February 16 at Leonaconing VFW home; February 17 at the Cumberland Extension office and February 18 at the Spring Gap community center.

Selection of correct patterns will be stressed.

Eleanor Smith presided and talked on how to keep records. A demonstration in "Trends for Table Setting," was given by Miss Joann Reitz, home demonstration agent.

April 3 was selected for the next meeting.

Bird Watching To Be Discussed

Kendrick Y. Hodgdon, science instructor of Valley High School, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Allegany County Bird Club, tomorrow. His topic is "The Art of Bird Watching," based on field observance.

Mr. Hodgdon studied ornithology under Dr. Arthur A. Allen at Cornell University, and under Allen Cruickshank at the National Audubon Society Camp in Maine. For the past five years he has been head of the nature activities at the Adirondack Camp for Boys, Lake George.

The meeting is for the junior and adult bird club members, and will be held at 7:30 o'clock, in the Cumberland Free Public Library. Mrs. Gilbert Miller will preside.

Pleasant Grove Club Gives To Sunshine Fund

The Pleasant Grove Homemakers Club appointed chairmen at the meeting recently at the home of Mrs. Raymond Minke. Mrs. Adolph Norris was cohostess.

A contribution was taken for a Sunshine fund, with Mrs. Howard Perrin being appointed chairman. The meeting opened with a prayer and roll call was answered by 19 members.

A story was told by the music chairman about the author and song, preceding the singing of "Drink to Me only with Thine Eyes." After the business session refreshments were served.

Circle Has Anniversary Celebration

A variety program featured the entertainment at the seventh anniversary celebration of the Jean Rowland Circle of Melvin Methodist Church, recently at the Ali Ghan Country Club.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Elva Dom. The meditation for the evening was "In His Footsteps." "The Upward Road," was read in unison. Miss Flo Stafford read the Scripture. A poem, "This Is The Way, Walk Here," was recited by Mrs. Eleanor Dela-Grange.

A dialogue, "The Road Ahead," was presented by Mrs. Ruby Roby and Miss Mary Jane Friend. Several songs were sung by the group. Land prayer was offered by Mrs. Louella Martin. A short business session was conducted by Mrs. Viola Wentling.

Short skits were given under the chairmanship of Mrs. Helen Walters and Miss Ethel Elbin. The skits included, "Footsteps that We Don't Want to Follow," by Mrs. Dom and Mrs. Betty Thomas; "The Evening News," Mrs. Viola Wentling and Mrs. Edith Riggelman; "Rocking Chair Blues," Mrs. Norma Manges and Mrs. Virginia Ferguson.

A trio, consisting of Miss Dorothy Streett, Mrs. Wentling and Mrs. Riggelman, sang several songs. Miss Joan Minke recited a poem "Prayer and Potatoes," and concluding the program, "Romance in Curbless Corners" was given by Mrs. Manges, Mrs. Betty Thomas, Miss Streett, Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Dom.

Guests for the evening were Rev. and Mrs. H. B. Hartman, Mrs. Leona Horsman and Mrs. Leota McClellan.

Plans were made at the meeting of the Trail, Saturday at the public library. The committee assisting the boys in decorating the windows at the Liberty Trust Company, consists of Elizabeth Murray, Bonnie Clem, Colleen Nelson and Alice Fisher.

Eleanor Smith presided and talked on how to keep records. A demonstration in "Trends for Table Setting," was given by Miss Joann Reitz, home demonstration agent.

April 3 was selected for the next meeting.

Study Group To Meet

The Gephart Adult Study Group will meet at 1:30 tomorrow at the school. A moving picture entitled, "Why Tommy Won't Eat," will be shown, after which a discussion period will be held.

Mrs. James Sills was named scrapbook editor and a program on "How Children Are Graded," featured the last meeting.

Beall At Allegany, Fort Hill At Bruce For Games Tonight

Bowers' Quint Seeks Revenge For Only Loss

Beall Copped Opener, 64-58; LaSalle Team To Invade Ridgeley

Allegany High's Campers and Bruce High's Bulldogs, tied for the leadership of the W.M.I. Basketball League, host Beall and Fort Hill in a pair of feature games tonight.

The only defeat suffered by Allegany in 16 starts this season came at the hands of Beall at Frostburg on January 12 (64-58 in overtime) and Coach Walter L. Bowers' warriors hope to atone for that terrific job as they shoot for their eighth consecutive triumph.

Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's Mountaineers have won nine and lost five this season and their record in the W.M.I. League stands at 3-3. In an earlier visit here, Beall dropped an overtime battle to Fort Hill, 73-69.

Trios Seek Class A Title

Since both Beall and Allegany are Class "A" schools and they along with Fort Hill are struggling for a berth in the district tournament at the Fort Hill gym next month, tonight's game looms as equally important to both schools.

In Class A competition all three county schools, Beall, Allegany and Fort Hill, have 1-1 records. The team with the highest percentage will represent that class in the District No. 1 tourney.

Bruce Shoots For Sweep

Bruce will be trying to sweep its two-game series with Fort Hill tonight in Westernport. Coach Augie Eichhorn's Bulldogs were extended an overtime period to edge the Sentinels here in the opening game of the series 57-52. Fort Hill is 3-3 in the league and 8-8 for the season while the Westernport outfit is deadlocked with Allegany in the W.M.I. at 5-1 and owns a season record of 13-2.

Joe Stanislawczyk and Joe Wagner will officiate the Beall-Allegany game at Campobello and Bob Pence and Fred "Tack" Clark will call the game on the Bruce floor.

In the third game of the evening in the county circuit Valley plays Mt. Savage at Lonaconing. Valley and Mt. Savage were "snowed out" on January 12 and tonight's game will mark their first meeting. Eddie Diehl and John Fox will be the officials.

LaSalle At Ridgeley

LaSalle High's Explorers make their 18th start tonight when they invade Ridgeley to tackle Fritz Showers and Company at Ridgeley High School. The Explorers won over Ridgeley on SS. Peter and Paul court, 65-56, but the Blackhaws are expected to make it closer at home. LaSalle has won 12 and 5 while Ridgeley has six wins and 10 defeats.

The only Potomac Valley Conference game on tonight's slate finds Fort Ashby's Eagles at Wardensville.

Chancellors Post 3-0 Win In K-C Dux League

The Chancellors swept three games from the Guards and the Recorders scored a 2-1 decision over the Grand Knights last night in the K. C. Bowling League on the Club Recreation alleys.

High man for the evening was Joe LaGratta of the Recorders with a 481.

Other high scorers were Jack Steiner, Grand Knights 473; John Carroll, Chancellors 450 and Joe Felten, Guards, 381. The standings:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Records	11	7	.611
Chancellors	10	8	.556
Grand Knights	9	9	.500
Guards	6	12	.333

Vejar Declared Fit For Wednesday Bout

CHICAGO, Feb. 8 (AP)—Welterweight Chico Vejar, on a 5-day pass from Ft. Benning, Ga., passed his physical examination by the Illinois Athletic Commission without a hitch today for his Chicago Stadium fight Wednesday against Ted Black.

Vejar will be making his first Chicago appearance since losing to Chuck Davey in 1952. He also lost to Davey two months later in Detroit.

The former New York University dramatics student has lost only four times in 58 bouts.

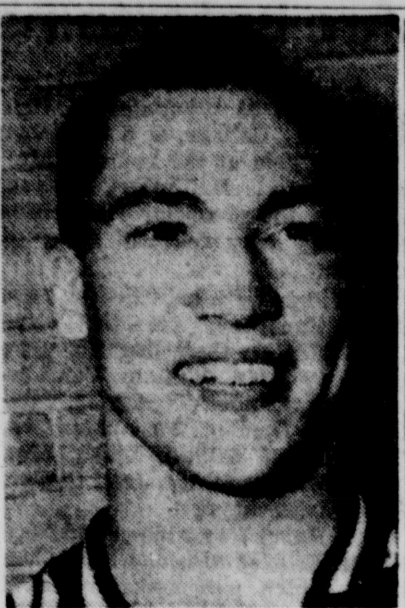

Black, tutored by Davey's manager, Rec Knowles, was an NCAA champion while at Michigan State and has scored 17 knockouts in 27 victories as a professional.

Issue Dux Challenge

Eddie McKay and Tom McGeady issue a challenge to any two duxpin bowlers in Allegany County on a home-and-home basis.

Incidentally, these two bowlers are left handers and claim the distinction of never having been beaten as a team.

The albatross used to be known as "Cape Sheep," apparently because sailors sometimes used their skins as rugs.

HEADS SCORERS—Jim Hoffman, Allegany High forward, is the leader in two basketball scoring races. He's showing the way to city scorers with 272 points on 101 field goals and 70-100 at the foul line for an average of 17 points a game. The Campers' senior also holds first place in WMI League scoring with 116 points on 45 fielders and 26 conversions in 44 charity tosses for an average of 19.3. Jim is 8th in the tri-state area scoring race. His high for a single game is 32 points.

Sports Grill

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (INS)—You hear that there is a dearth of catchers in the major leagues and that a good rookie catcher has an easier time breaking into the big time than any other player.

But it seems to us that a hard-hitting youngster who can run, field and throw has his best chance in the outfield.

There was a time when the woods were full of fine outfielders and most teams had a trio without a noticeable weakness.

But look around the majors today and note the number of lumbering oaks trying to patrol a fair sector of the outfield.

Some have a fleet ball hawk or two who can't hit. Others will have one or two good hitters who can't field.

It may be only a coincidence but you will have noticed the one team with a completely sound outfield with all around strength last year was the Yanks with Woodling, Mantle, Noren and Bauer. And the Yanks are world champions.

The Dodgers had two-thirds of a truly great outfield with Duke Snider and Carl Furillo. But Jackie Robinson in left was merely a displaced infielder. When Don Thompson replaced Robinson for defensive purposes the Dodgers had three fine fielders but Thompson is not a great hitter.

The Cardinals were pretty effective with Musial, Repulski and Slaughter although Slaughter has slowed down with the years.

Some ball clubs had only one legitimate ball hawk who should have received at least time and a half for covering all three fields. And high on this list stands Frank Baumholtz of the Cubs who again will have the dubious pleasure of covering large sections of right and left for Hank Sauer and Ralph Kiner.

Willie Mays of the Giants will be in the same spot with Monte Irvin on one side of him and Don Mueller on the other. Larry Doby of the Indians also will be in a similar fix and Gus Bell of the Reds will be expected to cover at least two outfield spots.

Charley Grimm of the Braves realized his outfielder deficiencies and he made a ten-strike when he got Bobby Thomson from the Giants. In Thomson and Bill Burton, Grimm now has two of the fleetest outfielders in baseball and Andy Pafko can still go get them pretty well.

With a set-up like this, it is clearly evident that any youngster who has the stuff has a great chance to make the grade in the majors.

The tip-off on just how easy it is for an outfielder to find a spot in the majors is the statement by Manager Phil Cavaretta of the Cubs that he "would be well pleased" if one of his rookie outfielders hits 280 for him. Pleased with a 280 hitter? Good night!

Giants Get Good News From Maglie

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—Sal Maglie passed some good news to the Giants today along with his signed contract.

The lean right-handed pitcher forwarded his contract from Niagara Falls, N.Y., with a note saying "I'm feeling better than I have in two years. I hope to have a good year."

Back trouble plagued "The Barber" last season when he fell off to an 8-9 won-lost record and a 4.16 earned run average. In the three years previous he posted marks of 18-4, 23-6 and 18-8. His earned run figures were 2.71, 2.93 and 2.91.

Indiana Is Victor

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Feb. 8 (AP)—Big Don Schlundt hit 14 free throws without a miss and 11 field goals tonight in his Indiana team's 90-77 victory over Minnesota. It was the eighth straight league victory for Indiana's Big Ten leaders, who have inflicted both of Minnesota's only two conference losses.

Kentucky Holds Lead In Weekly Basketball Poll

Margin Sliced To Six Points Over Duquesne

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—Kentucky retained first place today in the weekly Associated Press basketball ranking poll. But the Wildcats' margin over Duquesne was so slim that it indicated the voters couldn't make up their minds which is the better of the two remaining undefeated major college teams.

Kentucky received nearly twice as many first-place votes as the Ducks, but in the final count gained only a six-point margin, 757 to 751.

Scoring was on the basis of ten points for a first-place vote, nine for second, eight for third, etc.

Kentucky topped 29 of the 97 ballots and was second on 20. Duquesne drew 12 first place votes and 35 seconds. What brought the Ducks so close were the votes of those who gave the leaders low ratings. Kentucky was omitted entirely from five ballots and was rated lower than fifth on only four. Eight voters placed Duquesne lower than fifth, but only two overlooked the Ducks entirely.

Indiana's defending NCAA champions continued to hold third place with 687 points, but Oklahoma A. and M. and Western Kentucky exchanged places following Western's first defeat of the season. The Aggies moved into fourth with 544 points to 399 for the Kentuckians.

Completing the first ten were Notre Dame, La Salle, Seattle, Holy Cross and George Washington. Although Seattle ran its winning streak to 23 straight, after an opening-game defeat, by winning three games last week, the first Western team dropped from sixth place to eighth.

George Washington, 11th last week, returned to the first ten as a result of Saturday's 76-71 victory over Duke, which had been ranked eighth. Duke dropped to 15th.

Maryland (17-4) was ranked 11th and Navy (14-4) held down the 16th spot.

Baseball Briefs

CINCINNATI, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs' organization today signed the son of one of the all-time Cincinnati baseball heroes.

General Manager Gabe Paul announced that Eddie Myers, a 19-year-old infielder who lives at Wormleysburg, Pa., has been signed to a contract with Cincinnati's farm club at Douglas, Ga., of the class D. Georgia State League.

His father, shortstop Billy Myers, drove in the winning run for Cincinnati in the seventh and deciding game of the 1940 World Series.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 8 (AP)—Vic Wertz stopped in at the Baltimore Orioles offices today, chatted for a few minutes with General Manager Art Ehlers, then signed his contract for the 1954 season.

He batted 268 with the St. Louis Browns last year while clubbing 19 homers and 72 RBIs.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 8 (AP)—Sebastian (Sibby) Sisti, veteran utility infielder, returned his signed 1954 contract to the Milwaukee Braves today. Sisti 25th player to come to terms with the Braves.

He will be playing his 12th season of major league baseball.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 8 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals announced today the signing of Alex Grammas, their $100,000 shortstop prospect.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed. He was the 20th Cardinal to sign.

The Cardinals acquired Grammas from the Cincinnati Redlegs recently, giving up a reported $100,000 and pitcher Jack Crimian. Grammas hit .306 last season with Kansas City on the American Association.

CHICAGO, Feb. 8 (AP)—While their star, Minnie Minoso, continues to hold out, the Chicago White Sox' list of contented players for 1954 otherwise keeps swelling—reaching 35 today.

The newest additions are Earl York, first baseman who batted in 90 runs while hitting .246 for Charleston of the American Association last year, and outfielder Bill Wilson.

Wilson, 25, is considered a prime prospect. He belted 34 homers for Memphis of the Southern Association in 1953, drove in 101 runs and hit .311 in 112 games. He's 6-3 and weighs 195.

Wilkinson Scores 45, Cavaliers Win, 83-69

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Feb. 8 (AP)—Sharpshooting Buzzy Wilkinson dropped in 45 points here tonight to lead Virginia's Cavaliers to an upset 83-69 Atlantic Coast Conference basketball victory over North Carolina.

It was Virginia's first triumph in ACC play after four licks and North Carolina's third setback to go with four circuit wins.

Beagle Tops AKC List Racing Versus Series

211 Horse Farms In Md. Why Davis Hit Skids

By C. V. BURNS

Final 1953 registration figures show the Beagle to have climbed to eminence as the most popular breed in America, according to the Gaines Dog Research Center of New York.

The rise of the Beagle hasn't been spectacular, but rather, has been a steady, healthy climb, mainly because the merry little hunting hound becomes the favorite of more and more sportsmen each year but also because of its gentle affability, happy disposition and size have made it popular as a house pet.

Registration figures compiled by the American Kennel Club for 1953 give the Beagle 45,398. In second place with 43,561 are American Cocker Spaniels which had held first place continuously since 1936, the longest period any breed has stayed at the very top. The same year Beagles were in fifth place.

Before the Cocker rose to the top in popularity, Boston Terriers had been foremost from 1929 through 1935. For several years before that German Shepherds had been in first place.

It is generally accepted that the Beagle is one of the oldest breeds in canine history, and with the Bloodhound and possibly the Otterhound, closest to the original breeds of scent hounds. Beagles have been in the United States since its earliest history.

The first Beagle trial in this country was held by the National Beagle Club at Hyannis, Mass., in 1890.

Today there are nearly 300 affiliated associations and member Beagle clubs which hold championship point trials every year in addition to 1,500 sanctioned events.

There are about 125 persons holding membership in the Allegany Beagle Club, which has been functioning here for the past 10 years. John Armstrong, of Triple Lakes, secretary of the organization, reports that 1953 was the club's banner year. Trials are held on the Barton Dairy Farm, McMullen Highway.

The ABC's main event last year was the four-day AKC licensed trial that attracted a total of 107 different entries. The local club is affiliated with the Penn Central Association which is made up of ten different organizations from the states of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland.

The first of the 1954 point trials was held Sunday by the ABC. There were 29 entries judged in the 13 and 15 inch classes of competition.

MARYLAND is ranked 41st in the nation in size but believe it or not, there are thoroughbred farms in 18 of its 23 counties.

A list of the various farms are published in the February issue of the Maryland Horse Magazine and there exactly 211 of them distributed throughout the Old Line State.

Allegany, Garrett, St. Mary's, Dorchester and Somerset are the only counties in the state without at least one thoroughbred farm.

Baltimore county leads with a total of 73 and Montgomery is the runner-up with 27. Others in order are Harford 22, Howard 20, Prince Georges 17, Carroll 9, Anne Arundel 8, Cecil 7, Kent 6, Washington, Frederick and Queen Anne's, four each; Talbot, 3; Worcester and Caroline, two each; and Calvert, Charles and Wicomico, one each.

IT WOULD APPEAR that Cumberland is a stepchild in the eyes of the Maryland Racing Commission judging from the suggestion made at last week's meeting.

The Bel Air track was anxious to get rid of its Sept. 29 to Oct. 9 dates because it does not like the idea of operating at the same time as the World Series. So the commission suggested that Bel Air take Aug. 4 to 14, the dates originally assigned to Cumberland.

What is Cumberland offered? You guessed it—the Sept. 29 to Oct. 9 dates at the Marlboro track. Cumberland had asked for the shift to Marlboro to avoid a conflict with the Charles Town meeting. If Bel Air tried to duck the World Series dates we wonder why they were unloaded on the local association.

Was that a nice way for the racing commission and Bel Air to treat their country cousins from Western Maryland?

DAVIS HIGH SCHOOL, one of the leading basketball schools in the Tri-State area for the past two years, has run into all kinds of misfortune this year.

Graduation last June took a heavy toll and 1953-54 was figured as a season for rebuilding. The team got off to a good start and was sailing along nicely until Don Shure, regular center and high point man, was kayoed for several weeks with the mumps. Then the Wildcats began to hit the skids.

Coach Emery Anderson became ill and spent about a week in the hospital, rejoining his team last week. The Tucker

Yale's Hobson Favors Changes In Cage Rules

Asks 30-Second Limit On Ball Possession

to correct what he called "too much intentional fouling, too much stalling and too much free throwing" in college basketball.

He also suggested: 1. A more severe penalty for defensive fouling—two free throws

Widening of the free throw lane from six to 12 feet to conform with Olympic standards and to cut down on the advantage of the game's modern six-and-a-half to seven feet giants.

Hobson, member of the Basketball Rules Committee and former chairman of the United States Olympic Cage Committee, made these recommendations at the weekly meeting of metropolitan basketball writers.

Flashy Nate Brooks, 1952 Olympic flyweight champion, blinded Billy Peacock with his dazzling speed and a talented left to win the North American bantamweight title tonight on a technical knockout at the end of the eighth round.

Peacock was down twice in the eighth of a scheduled 12-round bout at the Eastern Parkway Arena. Brooks weighed 116 1/2, Peacock, 117.

Opening up in the eighth after the defending champion scored with a solid right, Brooks dropped Peacock with a right to the jaw for a count of four. Swarming over his opponent, who was the 13-5 favorite, Brooks knocked down Peacock again just as the bell sounded.

Referee Pete Scalzo, acting on the advice of Dr. Samuel Swetnick of the New York State Athletic Commission, stopped the fight as Peacock sat in his corner. It went into the records as an eight round TKO.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 8 (INS)—The St. Louis Cardinals announced today the signing of five more players to 1954 contracts, bringing the number of men under contract to 25.

All five will report to Manager Eddie Stanky for spring training at Deland, Fla., next Friday.

Contract agreements were reached with three right handed pitchers, Cloyd Boyer, Stu Miller and Joe Presko, and outfielder Fred Repulski and first baseman Fred Marlewski.

Edwards Takes Over As N. C. State Coach

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 8 (AP)—Earle Edwards, end coach for six years at Michigan State College, arrived today to take up his new job as head football coach at North Carolina State College.

He will get an official welcome tomorrow night at a barbecue dinner. No date for the start of spring football practice has been set.

Under terms of a three-year contract he signed here Edwards will get $12,000 annually.

Arizona and southern California contain areas that are practically rainless.

Countians have dropped their last eight games and now have a record of five wins and nine losses.

Last year Davis won 21 out of 26 games and went as far as the Northern Area Class "B" tournament at Clarksburg where the Wildcats lost an overtime thriller to Piedmont, 68-63. The previous year Davis was among the top quints in the area with a 16-7 record.

THE NATIONAL Basketball Association playoff script for 1954 could be entitled "How to Win and Still Lose."

Here's how the pros will drag it out:

1. Home-and-home round robin among the top three teams in eastern and western divisions.

2. Best-of-three series between leader and runner-up in each round robin (In case of a tie, the second and third teams will have one-game playoff).

3. Best-of-seven series between the winners of each division playoff.

Under this set-up, it would be possible for a team to win both its regular season division title and the round robin, yet miss the championship series by losing the final divisional playoff.

Olympic Champ Stops Peacock

Brooks Wins In 8th Of Bantam Title Go

Furgol Defeats Middlecoff In Phoenix Open

St. Louis Pro Wins 19-Hole Playoff To Cop $2,000 Prize

PHOENIX, Ariz., Feb. 8 (AP)—Cary Middlecoff blew a two-stroke lead on the 18th hole and underdog Ed Furgol came on to defeat the former National Open champion on the 19th hole in their playoff for the $2,000 top money of the Phoenix Open Golf Tournament today.

The 36-year-old Furgol from St. Louis, Mo., shot a conceded birdie four on the sudden death extra hole while Middlecoff had a bogey six to lose the playoff.

Furgol, who had never won a major tournament and was the obvious favorite, put the finishing touch on Middlecoff on the 19th hole.

Each had par 71s for the round. On the 19th hole, Middlecoff's second shot landed in a trap, the fifth he was in during the afternoon. He came out of this trap but failed to make the green. He chipped well past the flag and missed the putt coming back for his six.

Furgol was on in two, putted up to one foot and Middlecoff conceded the putt.

Middlecoff, a veteran of many playoffs, collected $1,400 for second place. Furgol had never been in a playoff in a big tournament.

The victory was extremely valuable to Furgol. It qualifies him for the $35,000 Tournament of Champions at Las Vegas April 22. First prize there is $10,000 and each contestant, who must qualify by winning a tournament, is guaranteed at least $1,000. Middlecoff already has qualified.

A gallery estimated at 1,000 swarmed behind the pair at the Phoenix Country Club course. It measures 6,690 yards and par is 36-35.

Frederick Pistol Team Scores Over Marine Reserves

The Pistol Team of Cumberland's 6th Special Infantry Company, Marine Corps Reserve, lost a match Sunday to Company A, 15th Infantry, Maryland National Guard, on the Frederick range.

The first match between the two teams was won by the Marine Reserve at their own range on Sunday, 17 January

Bowers' Quint Seeks Revenge For Only Loss

Beall Copped Opener, 64-58; LaSalle Team To Invade Ridgeley

Allegany High's Campers and Bruce High's Bulldogs, tied for the leadership of the W.M.I. Basketball League, host Beall and Fort Hill in a pair of feature games tonight.

The only defeat suffered by Allegany in 16 starts this season came at the hands of Beall at Frostburg on January 12 (64-58 in overtime) and Coach Walter L. Bowers' warriors hope to atone for that terrible jolt as they shoot for their eighth consecutive triumph.

Coach "Ebbie" Finzel's Mountaineers have won nine and lost five this season and their record in the W.M.I. League stands at 3-3. In an earlier visit here, Beall dropped an overtime battle to Fort Hill, 73-69.

Trio Seeks Class A Title

Since both Beall and Allegany are Class "A" schools and they along with Fort Hill are struggling for a berth in the district tournament at the Fort Hill gym next month tonight's game looms as equally important to both schools.

In Class A competition all three county schools, Beall, Allegany and Fort Hill, have 1-1 records. The team with the highest percentage will represent that class in the District No. 1 tourney.

Bruce Shoots For Sweep

Bruce will be trying to sweep its two-game series with Fort Hill tonight in Westernport. Coach Augie Eichhorn's Bulldogs were extended an overtime period to edge the Sentinels here in the opening game of the series 57-52. Fort Hill is 3-3 in the league and 8-8 for the season while the Westernport outfit is deadlocked with Allegany in the W.M.I. at 5-1 and owns a season record of 13-2.

Joe Stanislawczyk and Joe Wagner will officiate the Beall-Allegany game at Campobello and Bob Pence and Fred "Tack" Clark will call the game on the Bruce floor.

In the third game of the evening in the county circuit Valley plays Mt. Savage at Lonaconing. Valley and Mt. Savage were "snowed out" on January 12 and tonight's game will mark their first meeting. Eddie Diehl and John Fox will be the officials.

LaSalle At Ridgeley

LaSalle High's Explorers make their 18th start tonight when they invade Ridgeley to tackle Fritz Showers and Company at Ridgeley High School. The Explorers won over Ridgeley on SS. Peter and Paul court, 63-56, but the Black-hawks are expected to make it closer at home. LaSalle has won 12 and 5 while Ridgeley has six wins and 10 defeats.

The only Potomac Valley Conference game on tonight's slate finds Fort Ashby's Eagles at Wardensville.

Chancellors Post 3-0 Win In K-C Dux League

The Chancellors swept three games from the Guards and the Recorders scored a 2-1 decision over the Grand Knights last night in the K. C. Bowling League on the Club Recreation alleys.

High man for the evening was Joe LaGratta of the Recorders with a 481.

Other high scorers were Jack Steiner, Grand Knights 473; John Carroll, Chancellors 450 and Joe Felten, Guards, 381. The standings:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Records	11	7	.611
Chancellors	10	8	.556
Grand Knights	9	9	.500
Guards	6	12	.333

Vejar Declared Fit For Wednesday Bout

CHICAGO, Feb. 8 (AP)—Welterweight Chico Vejar, on a 5-day pass from Ft. Benning, Ga., passed his physical examination by the Illinois Athletic Commission without a hitch today for his Chicago Stadium fight Wednesday against Ted Black.

Vejar will be making his first Chicago appearance since losing to Chuck Davey in 1952. He also lost to Davey two months later in Detroit.

The former New York University dramatics student has lost only four times in 38 bouts.

Black, tutored by Davey's manager, Rec Knowles, was an NCAA champion while at Michigan State and has scored 17 knockouts in 27 victories as a professional.

Issue Dux Challenge

Eddie McKay and Tom McGeeady issue a challenge to any two ducky bowlers in Allegany County on a home-and-home basis. Incidentally, these two bowlers are left handers and claim the distinction of never having been beaten as a team.

The albatross used to be known as "Cape Sheep," apparently because sailors sometimes used their skins as rugs.

HEADS SCORERS—Jim Hoffman, Allegany High forward, is the leader in two basketball scoring races. He's showing the way to city scorers with 272 points on 101 field goals and 70-100 at the foul line for an average of 17 points a game. The Campers' senior also holds first place in WMI League scoring with 116 points on 45 fielders and 26 conversions in 44 charity tosses for an average of 19.3. Jim is 8th in the tri-state area scoring race. His high for a single game is 32 points.

By PAT ROBINSON

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (INS)—You hear that there is a dearth of catchers in the major leagues and that a good rookie catcher has an easier time breaking into the big time than any other player.

But it seems to us that a hard-hitting youngster who can run, field and throw has his best chance in the outfield.

There was a time when the woods were full of fine outfielders and most teams had a trio without a noticeable weakness.

But look around the majors today and note the number of lumbering oxen trying to patrol a fair sector of the outfield.

Some have a fleet ball hawk or two who can't hit. Others will have one or two good hitters who can't field.

It may be only a coincidence but you will have noticed the one team with a completely sound outfield with all around strength last year was the Yanks with Woodling, Mantle, Noren and Bauer. And the Yanks are world champions.

The Dodgers had two-thirds of a truly great outfield with Duke Snider and Carl Furillo. But Jackie Robinson in left was merely a displaced infielder. When Don Thompson replaced Robinson for defensive purposes the Dodgers had three fine fielders but Thompson is not a great hitter.

The Cardinals were pretty effective with Musial, Repulski and Slaughter although Slaughter has slowed down with the years.

Some ball clubs had only one legitimate ball hawk who should have received at least time and a half for covering all three fields. And high on this list stands Frank Baumholtz of the Cubs who again will have the dubious pleasure of covering large sections of right and left for Hank Sauer and Ralph Kiner.

Willie Mays of the Giants will be in the same spot with Monte Irvin on one side of him and Don Mueller on the other. Larry Doby of the Indians also will be in a similar fix and Gus Bell of the Reds will be expected to cover at least two outfield spots.

Charley Grimm of the Braves realized his outfield deficiencies and he made a ten-strike when he got Bobby Thomson from the Giants. In Thomson and Bill Burton, Grimm now has two of the fleetest outfielders in baseball and Andy Pafko can still go get them pretty well.

With a set-up like this, it is clearly evident that any youngster who has the stuff has a great chance to make the grade in the majors.

The tip-off on just how easy it is for an outfielder to find a spot in the majors is the statement by Manager Phil Cavarretta of the Cubs that he "would be well pleased" if one of his rookie outfielders hits .280 for him. Pleased with a .280 hitter? Good night!

Giants Get Good News From Maglie

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—Sal Maglie passed some good news to the Giants today along with his signed contract.

The lean right-handed pitcher forwarded his contract from Niagara Falls, N.Y., with a note saying "I'm feeling better than I have in two years. I hope to have a good year."

Back trouble plagued "The Barber" last season when he fell off to an 8-9 won-lost record and a 4.16 earned run average. In the three years previous he posted marks of 18-4, 23-6 and 18-8. His earned run figures were 2.71, 2.93 and 2.91.

Indiana Is Victor

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Feb. 8 (AP)—Big Don Schlundt hit 14 free throws without a miss and 11 field goals tonight in his Indiana team's 90-77 victory over Minnesota. It was the eighth straight league victory for Indiana's Big Ten leaders, who have inflicted both of Minnesota's only two conference losses.

Kentucky Holds Lead In Weekly Basketball Poll

Margin Sliced To Six Points Over Duquesne

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—Kentucky retained first place today in the weekly Associated Press basketball ranking poll. But the Wildcats' margin over Duquesne was so slim that it indicated the voters couldn't make up their minds which is the better of the two remaining undefeated major college teams.

Kentucky received nearly twice as many first-place votes as the Dukes, but in the final count gained only a six-point margin, 757 to 751.

Scoring was on the basis of ten points for a first-place vote, nine for second, eight for third, etc.

Kentucky topped 29 of the 97 ballots and was second on 20. Duquesne drew 12 first place votes and 35 seconds. What brought the Dukes so close were the votes of those who gave the leaders low ratings. Kentucky was omitted entirely from five ballots and was rated lower than fifth on only four. Eight voters placed Duquesne lower than fifth, but only two overlooked the Dukes entirely.

Indiana's defending NCAA champions continued to hold third place with 687 points, but Oklahoma A. and M. and Western Kentucky exchanged places following Western's first defeat of the season. The Aggies moved into fourth with 544 points to 399 for the Kentuckians.

Completing the first ten were Notre Dame, La Salle, Seattle, Holy Cross and George Washington. Although Seattle ran its winning streak to 23 straight, after an opening-game defeat, by winning three games last week, the first Western team dropped from sixth place to eighth.

George Washington, 11th last week, returned to the first ten as a result of Saturday's 76-71 victory over Duke, which had been ranked eighth. Duke dropped to 15th.

Maryland (17-4) was ranked 11th and Navy (14-4) held down the 16th spot.

Baseball Briefs

CINCINNATI, Feb. 8 (AP)—The Cincinnati Redlegs' organization today signed up the son of one of the all-time Cincinnati baseball heroes.

General Manager Gabe Paul announced that Eddie Myers, a 19-year-old infielder who lives at Wormleysburg, Pa., has been signed to a contract with Cincinnati's farm club at Douglas, Ga., of the class D. Georgia State League.

His father, shortstop Billy Myers, drove in the winning run for Cincinnati in the seventh and deciding game of the 1940 World Series.

BALTIMORE, Feb. 8 (AP)—Vic Wertz stopped in at the Baltimore Orioles offices today, chatted for a few minutes with General Manager Art Ebers, then signed his contract for the 1954 season.

He batted .268 with the St. Louis Browns last year while clubbing 19 homers and 72 RBIs.

MILWAUKEE, Feb. 8 (AP)—Sebastian (Sibby) Sisti, veteran utility infielder, returned his signed 1954 contract to the Milwaukee Braves today. Sisti 25th player to come to terms with the Braves.

He is playing his 12th season of major league baseball.

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 8 (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals announced today the signing of Alex Grammas, their $100,000 shortstop prospect.

Terms of the contract were not disclosed. He was the 20th Cardinal to sign.

The Cardinals acquired Grammas from the Cincinnati Redlegs recently, giving up a reported $100,000 and pitcher Jack Crimian. Grammas hit .306 last season with Kansas City on the American Association.

CHICAGO, Feb. 8 (AP)—While their star, Minnie Minoso, continues to hold out, the Chicago White Sox' list of contented players for 1954 otherwise keeps swelling—reaching 35 today.

The newest additions are Earl York, first baseman who batted in 90 runs while hitting .246 for Charleston of the American Association last year, and outfielder Bill Wilson.

Wilson, 25, is considered a prime prospect. He belted 34 homers for Memphis of the Southern Association in 1953, drove in 161 runs and hit .311 in 112 games. He's 6-3 and weighs 195.

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Feb. 8 (AP)—Shooting Buzzy Wilkinson dropped in 45 points here tonight to lead Virginia's Cavaliers to an upset 83-69 Atlantic Coast Conference basketball victory over North Carolina.

It was Virginia's first triumph in ACC play after four lickings and North Carolina's third setback to go with four circuit wins.

Beagle Tops AKC List Racing Versus Series
211 Horse Farms In Md. Why Davis Hit Skids

By C. V. BURNS

Final 1953 registration figures show the Beagle to have climbed to eminence as the most popular breed in America, according to the Gaines Dog Research Center of New York.

The rise of the Beagle hasn't been spectacular, but rather, has been a steady, healthy climb, mainly because the merry little hunting hound becomes the favorite of more and more sportsmen each year but also because of its gentle affability, happy disposition and size have made it popular as a house pet.

Registration figures compiled by the American Kennel Club for 1953 give the Beagle 45,398. In second place with 43,561 are American Cocker Spaniels which had held first place continuously since 1936, the longest period any breed has stayed at the very top. The same year Beagles were in fifth place.

Before the Cocker rose to the top in popularity, Boston Terriers had been foremost from 1929 through 1935. For several years before that German Shepherds had been in first place.

It is generally accepted that the Beagle is one of the oldest breeds in canine history, and with the Bloodhound and possibly the Otterhound, closest to the original breeds of scent hounds. Beagles have been in the United States since its earliest history.

The first Beagle trial in this country was held by the National Beagle Club at Hyannis, Mass., in 1890.

Today there are nearly 300 affiliated associations and member Beagle clubs which hold championship point trials every year in addition to 1,500 sanctioned events.

There are about 125 persons holding membership in the Allegany Beagle Club, which has been functioning here for the past 10 years. John Armstrong, of Triple Lakes, secretary of the organization, reports that 1953 was the club's banner year. Trials are held on the Barton Dairy Farm, McMullen Highway.

The ABC's main even last year was the four-day AKC licensed trial that attracted a total of 107 different entries. The local club is affiliated with the Penn Central Association which is made up of ten different organizations from the states of Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Maryland.

The first of the 1954 point trials was held Sunday by the ABC. There were 29 entries judged in the 13 and 15 inch classes of competition.

MARYLAND is ranked 41st in the nation in size but believe it or not, there are thoroughbred farms in 18 of its 23 counties.

A list of the various farms are published in the February issue of the Maryland Horse Magazine and there exactly 211 of them distributed throughout the Old Line State.

Allegany, Garrett, St. Mary's, Dorchester and Somerset are the only counties in the state without at least one thoroughbred farm. Baltimore county leads with a total of 73 and Montgomery is the runner-up with 27. Others in order are Harford 22, Howard 20, Prince Georges 17, Carroll 9, Anne Arundel 8, Cecil 7, Kent 6, Washington, Frederick and Queen Anne's, four each; Talbot, 3, Worcester and Caroline, two each, and Calvert, Charles and Wicomico, one each.

IT WOULD APPEAR that Cumberland is a stepchild in the eyes of the Maryland Racing Commission judging from the suggestion made at last week's meeting.

The Bel Air track was anxious to get rid of its Sept. 29 to Oct. 9 dates because it does not like the idea of operating at the same time as the World Series. So the commission suggests that Bel Air take Aug. 4 to 14, the dates originally assigned to Cumberland.

What is Cumberland offered? You guessed it—the Sept. 29 to Oct. 9 dates at the Marlboro track. Cumberland had asked for the shift to Marlboro to avoid a conflict with the Charles Town meeting. If Bel Air tried to duck the World Series dates we wonder why they were unloaded on the local association.

Was that a nice way for the racing commission and Bel Air to treat their country cousins from Western Maryland?

DAVIS HIGH SCHOOL, one of the leading basketball schools in the Tri-State area for the past two years, has run into all kinds of misfortune this year.

Graduation last June took a heavy toll and 1953-54 was figured as a season for rebuilding. The team got off to a good start and was sailing along nicely until Don Shure, regular center and high point man, was kayoed for several weeks with the mumps. Then the Wildcats began to hit the skids.

Coach Emery Anderson became ill and spent about a week in the hospital, rejoining his team last week. The Tucker

Shenandoah Quint And Potomac State Tangle At Keyser

KEYSER, W. Va., Feb. 8.—Potomac State is scheduled to play three games this week, one at home and two on the road.

Tuesday night, Coach Dana "Horse" Lough's outfit does battle with Shenandoah College of Dayton, Va., on the local floor, while on Friday West Virginia Wesleyan College will be met at Buckhannon and Alderson-Broadus' Battlers will be faced Saturday night at Potomac.

Potomac will be out for revenge Tuesday as Shenandoah won the initial game of the series from the Catamounts in Virginia by the score of 89-76. Tomorrow's game here will be the 18th on Potomac's slate. Only three of the 17 games played to date have been wins for the Loughmen.

Seixas Praises Aussie Netmen

Scoffs At Report U. S. Received Shabby Deal

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 8 (AP)—Vic Seixas, home from Australia after three months of tennis tournaments, including the Davis Cup matches, had nothing but praise today for the ability of Australian players and said that right or wrong, Aussie court officials called them as they saw them.

America's second ranking player expressed concern lest the American public and others get the wrong impression of Australian tennis people. He scoffed at the suggestion that the American Davis Cup squad received a shabby deal. "Truthfully, the Australians take their tennis more seriously than we do. It's just like a World Series game to them. The fans remind you of those one might see at a New York Giants-Brooklyn Dodgers baseball game. They're tennis fanatics and want an Australian victory," Seixas said.

Seixas said that certain rulings in his Cup singles match with Ken Rosewall hurt him, but that the calls were "certainly made as the man saw them. I thought they were wrong, but that's a U. S. player talking. The official was an Australian."

Kentucky Cops 17th

GAINESVILLE, Fla., Feb. 8 (AP)—Kentucky's Wildcats, the nation's No. 1 basketball team, whipped an outclassed University of Florida squad 97-55 tonight.

Coach Adolph Rupp pressed a relentless attack, using only seven men. All-America center Cliff Hagan played the entire game and was high scorer with 22 points.

Countians have dropped their last eight games and now have a record of five wins and nine losses.

Last year Davis won 21 out of 26 games and went as far as the Northern Area Class "B" tournament at Clarksburg where the Wildcats lost an overtime thriller to Piedmont, 68-63. The previous year Davis was among the top quint in the area with a 16-7 record.

THE NATIONAL Basketball Association playoff script for 1954 could be entitled "How to Win and Still Lose."

Here's how the pros will drag it out:

1. Home-and-home round robin among the top three teams in eastern and western divisions.

2. Best-of-three series between leader and runner-up in each round robin (in case of a tie, the second and third teams will have one-game playoff).

3. Best-of-seven series between the winners of each division playoff.

Under this set-up, it would be possible for a team to win both its regular season division title and the round robin, yet miss the championship series by losing the final divisional playoff.

Yale's Hobson Favors Changes In Cage Rules

Asks 30-Second Limit On Ball Possession

to correct what he called "too much intentional fouling, too much stalling and too much free throwing" in college basketball.

He also suggested: 1. A more severe penalty for defensive fouling—two free throws for the entire 40 minutes of the game instead of in the last three minutes as under present rules.

Widening of the free throw lane from six to 12 feet to conform with Olympic standards and to cut down on the advantage of the game's modern six-and-a-half to seven feet giants.

Hobson, member of the Basketball Rules Committee and former chairman of the United States Olympic Cage Committee, made these recommendations at the weekly meeting of metropolitan basketball writers.

Bevo Francis Nears Record

Rio Grande Ace Needs 41 To Catch O'Brien

RIO GRANDE, O., Feb. 8 (INS)—Rio Grande basketball coach Newt Oliver said today that "barring a broken leg, Bevo Francis is bound to set a new single-season scoring record" for four year colleges.

With five games still on Rio's schedule, the fabulous Bevo has chalked up 929 points against four-year schools and is within 41 points of equaling the record now held by Johnny O'Brien of Seattle.

In the last seven games Bevo has rolled up an amazing 418 points for an average of 59 per game. His total for the season so far, including points scored against junior colleges, is 993, or just seven short of the thousand mark.

Oliver noted that in 59 games covering nearly two seasons, Bevo has scored 2,937 points for an average of 49.7 per game.

Edwards Takes Over As N. C. State Coach

RALEIGH, N. C., Feb. 8 (AP)—Earle Edwards, end coach for six years at Michigan State College, arrived today to take up his new job as head football coach at North Carolina State College.

He will get an official welcome tomorrow night at a barbecue dinner. No date for the start of spring football practice has been set.

Under terms of a three-year contract he signed here Edwards will get $12,000 annually.

Peacock was down twice in the eighth of a scheduled 12-round bout at the Eastern Parkway Arena. Brooks weighed 116½, Peacock, 117.

Opening up in the eighth after the defending champion scored with a solid right, Brooks dropped Peacock with a right to the jaw for a count of four. Swarming over his opponent, who was the 135-lb. favorite, Brooks knocked down Peacock again just as the bell sounded.

Referee Pete Scalzo, acting on the advice of Dr. Samuel Swetnick of the New York State Athletic Commission, stopped the fight as Peacock sat in his corner. It went into the records as an eight round TKO.

A gallery estimated at 1,000 swarmed behind the pair at the Phoenix Country Club course. It measures 6,690 yards and par is 36-35.

Frederick Pistol Team Scores Over Marine Reserves

The Pistol Team of Cumberland's 6th Special Infantry Company, Marine Corps Reserve, lost a match Sunday to Company A, 115th Infantry, Maryland National Guard, on the Frederick range.

The first match between the two teams was won by the Marine Reserve at their own range on Sunday, 17 January 1954.

A third match is planned in Cumberland during March.

High shooter was "Ace" Simpson of Company A who posted a 263.

High for the Marines was Captain J. E. Rich with 241.

Newcombe Signs, Scales Only 230

BROOKLYN, Feb. 8 (AP)—Don Newcombe, the Brooklyn Dodgers' "pennant insurance" for 1954, celebrated his release from the U.S. Army today by returning his signed contract to the Dodgers.

It was estimated that Newcombe received $23,000, an increase of about $5,000 over his 1951 contract. He won 20 games and lost only nine in '51, the year the Dodgers were nosed out of the National League pennant by the New York Giants in a three-game playoff.

"I'm in good shape," he told Bava by telephone. "I weigh only 230 pounds. That's about 10 pounds less than when I finished the '51 season. I hope to shed about 10 more pounds before I report to Vero Beach (Fla.). I'm looking forward to a good year, I see no reason why I can't win 20 games again this year."

Newcombe said he would report to the Dodgers' training camp on Feb. 23.

Frostburg VFW To Hold Dance For Heart Fund

Top Entertainment Billed In Floor Show

FROSTBURG — John R. Fairgrieve Post No. 2462, Veterans of Foreign Wars will hold a dance and entertainment, Thursday, February 18, for the benefit of the Heart Fund.

William Preston, post commander, said the post is interested in supporting the Allegheny County Rheumatic Fever and Heart Association and hopes to make this affair a highly successful one.

Music for dancing will be furnished by the Blue Aces and a floor show will be presented featuring the Smith Triplets of Cumberland, Wilma Rae Smith, Wilda Rita Smith and Willa Royce Smith doing accordion selections.

Other talent on the show will include tap dancing by Dixie Klosterman and Shirley Tuhill; piano and trumpet features by Jeannine and George "Ronnie" Richardson, plus vocal selections by Marshall Caton.

A committee in charge of arrangements for this public benefit affair includes Paul Smith, chairman, Irvin Eisle, Harry Neilson, George Hochard and William Mears.

The affair will start at 9 p. m.

Mineral County Nears Goal In March Of Dimes

KEYSER—The Mineral County March of Dimes campaign is within a few hundred dollars of the goal, with $5,387.88 on hand. The goal set for the county was $5,584.

This announcement was made by H. Brown Oates, director, on Monday. He believes the goal may be reached with receipt of the many pledges made over the radio and otherwise. He is anxious that these pledges be mailed to the local office, March of Dimes, Keyser, Va., this week. The full campaign report will be made early next week. The amount of money collected to date is 96 percent of the goal.

The average donation per person in the county this year is now 24 cents per person. Oates said the goal per person in the county had been set at 25 cents before opening the campaign.

Joseph Neil Shobe Regains Consciousness

KEYSER — Joseph Neil Shobe, 33, local man who was injured in the automobile wreck that occurred early Sunday morning, is reported to have regained consciousness and shows a slight improvement. He has been a patient at Potomac Valley Hospital since the accident. For days he was in critical condition.

It is reported at the hospital that he has a brain concussion and possible fractured skull.

Winners Selected In Play Tournament At Westernport

WESTERNPORT — "A Maiden's Prayer," was selected as the best show of the annual play tournament of students of St. Peter's High School Sunday night in the high school auditorium.

John Mertz, who portrayed Mr. Carruthers, the handy man, was selected as the best actor in the tournament. Others taking part in the play, directed by Marian Laughlin, were Francis O'Rourke, who was tied for second place honors of the actors; Rose Marie Mayolo, chosen second best actress; Joanne McCabe, Rose Marie Ord.

Miss Eloise Welsh who played "Maggie" was named the best actress. This play was directed by Phillip Skidmore who was tied with Francis O'Rourke as the second best actor. Phillip played Casey Jones in "Last Night's Paper."

Others taking part in "Maggie" were William Stine, Clarke Crowe, John Mertz, Sara Murphy, Nancy Whitfield, James Small, Frances Davis, Marian Laughlin.

"Last Night's Paper" was directed by Rose Marie Mayolo. The cast included Frank O'Rourke, Phillip Skidmore, Raymond Wright, Patricia Orndorff, Patricia Healy and James Small.

The report of the judges was given by Dr. Elizabeth Atwater. The other judges were Kenneth Haines, also of Potomac State College, faculty of Keyser, and Mrs. P. E. Berry of Piedmont.

Between the plays musical numbers were presented by Marion Laughlin, Rayma Wright, Rose Marie Ord, Martin, Rose Marie Mayolo, Jacky Kay Scarcelli, Judith Ord, Helen O'Rourke, Margaret Frankland, Dorothy Stine, Shirley Beckner, Judith Francis, Sandra Hill, Mary McBee, and Barbara Tennent. Mrs. George Ord, played the piano accompaniments.

Keyser Women Hear Report On Schools In Mineral County

KEYSER — Miss Jeannette McGuffie, supervisor of elementary schools in Mineral County, addressed the Keyser Woman's Club Thursday evening in the Presbyterian Church with Dr. Nancy Miller presiding. Miss McGuffie spoke on the schools in Mineral County. She said there were 18 schools, six high schools and 12 elementary schools in the county. She said that Keyser elementary school is the second largest in the state; that there were eight model schools and four belonging to the North Central, Keyser High School having been admitted to North Central in 1927.

She concluded by saying there were no one room schools in the county.

Brownie Scout Troop under the direction of Mrs. Nelle Smith, leader, gave a program.

Dr. Miller announced that the 50th state convention will be held in Wheeling, April 21-23.

Miss Mary Shipper, general chairman of the annual banquet, announced it will be held March 9 at 7 p. m. and 150 tickets are available. It will be held at the dining room in Davis Hall, Potomac State College.

Returns Home

WESTERNPORT — Mrs. James T. Tonry, of 118 Philos Avenue, is home from Memorial Hospital, where she underwent surgery.

Scout Leaders At Frostburg Attend Dinner

275 Take Part In Appreciation Event

FROSTBURG — The annual appreciation covered dish supper of Boy Scout leaders, including the parents of local Scout Troops, Cub Packs and Explorer Post was held last evening in the American Legion Home, and attended by over 275 persons.

A feature of the evening was the presentation of an Eagle Scout award to Adam Baer Jr., a son of Dr. and Mrs. Adam Baer Frost Avenue.

The participating units included Cub Pack No. 30, sponsored by the Parent Teacher Association of the College Laboratory School; Cub Pack No. 44, sponsored by Hill Street School; Boy Scout Troop No. 48, sponsored by the Episcopal Church; Boy Scout Troop No. 42, sponsored by the First Methodist Church.

The Grantsville Troop, sponsored by the Grantsville Rotary Club, and Explorer Post No. 50, sponsored by the Loyal Order of Moose. A group of boys, trained by Dr. John L. Dunkle, spoke on activities of the groups in which they are connected. The speakers included Thomas Richardson, Cub Pack No. 44; Ronald Harris, Scout Troop No. 42; Charles Crowe, Eagle Scout, and Explorer of Troop No. 48; Adam Baer Jr., Life Scout of Explorer Post No. 52; Phillip Beaman, Troop No. 48, and Gerald Snelson, Cub Pack No. 30.

Beaman, Baer and Snelson of this group spoke at the morning service Sunday at Welsh Memorial Baptist Church.

Dr. Dunkle, a member of the extension committee of Mt. District Potomac Council, stated the appearance of these boys as public speakers before local civic groups is the first time an attempt to publicize Boy Scout activities by this method has been tried. Groups interested in securing a team consisting of any number of trained scouts to address their organizations are asked to contact Dr. Dunkle or Kenneth Crowe, chairman of Mt. District.

Among the guests attending the appreciation dinner last evening was Willis Smith, scout executive of Potomac Council.

Reach Agreement In Court Case

SOMERSET, Pa. — An agreement between the court and counsel for both the plaintiff and the defendant in the case of David C. Jones, Grantsville, Md., against the W&R Corporation, of Duquesne, Pa., settled the law suit satisfactorily.

The plaintiff brought suit against the W&R Corporation to recover $608.95, which was the amount of a fine he had to pay while employed by the W&R Corporation as their superintendent.

David Jones was arrested November 17, 1952, approximately seven miles west of Frostburg, Md., for hauling heavy equipment without a permit. He claims he was instructed by his employers to remove the equipment from the Mineral Coal Company in Jennings, Md., to the corporation's strip job. He maintained his employers never suggested that he get a permit for hauling the equipment. The defendants claimed they did.

The defendant in a counter-suit claimed money for coal which plaintiff sold from his employer's strip job while the job was supposed to be temporarily shut down.

Frostburg VFW To Hold Dance For Heart Fund

Top Entertainment Billed In Floor Show

FROSTBURG — John R. Fairgrieve Post No. 2462, Veterans of Foreign Wars will hold a dance and entertainment, Thursday, February 18, for the benefit of the Heart Fund.

William Preston, post commander, said the post is interested in supporting the Allegheny County Rheumatic Fever and Heart Association and hopes to make this affair a highly successful one.

Music for dancing will be furnished by the Blue Aces and a floor show will be presented featuring the Smith Triplets of Cumberland, Wilma Rae Smith, Wilda Rita Smith and Willa Royce Smith doing acrobatic stunts.

Other talent on the show will include tap dancing by Dixie Klosterman and Shirley Tuhill; piano and trumpet features by Jeannine and George "Ronnie" Richardson, plus vocal selections by Marshall Caton.

A committee in charge of arrangements for this public benefit affair includes Paul Smith, chairman, Irvin Eisle, Harry Neilson, George Hochard and William Meers.

The affair will start at 9 p. m.

Mineral County Nears Goal In March Of Dimes

KEYSER—The Mineral County March of Dimes campaign is within a few hundred dollars of the goal, with $5,387.88 on hand. The goal set for the county was $5,584.

This announcement was made by H. Brown Oates, director, on Monday. He believes the goal may be reached with receipt of the many pledges made over the radio and otherwise. He is anxious that these pledges be mailed to the local office, March of Dimes, Keyser, W. Va., this week. The full campaign report will be made early next week. The amount of money collected to date is 96 percent of the goal.

The average donation per person in the county this year is now 24 cents per person. Oates said the goal per person in the county had been set at 25 cents before opening the campaign.

275 Take Part In Appreciation Event

FROSTBURG — The annual appreciation covered dish supper of Boy Scout leaders, including the parents of local Scout Troops, Cub Packs and Explorer Post was held last evening in the American Legion Home, and attended by over 275 persons.

A feature of the evening was the presentation of an Eagle Scout award to Adam Baer Jr., a son of Dr. and Mrs. Adam Baer Frost Avenue.

The participating units included Cub Pack No. 30, sponsored by the Parent Teacher Association of the College Laboratory School; Cub Pack No. 44, sponsored by Hill Street School; Boy Scout Troop No. 48, sponsored by the Episcopal Church; Boy Scout Troop No. 42, sponsored by the First Methodist Church.

The Grantsville Troop, sponsored by the Grantsville Rotary Club, and Explorer Post No. 50, sponsored by the Loyal Order of Moose. A group of boys, trained by Dr. John L. Dunkle, spoke on activities of the groups in which they are connected. The speakers included Thomas Richardson, Cub Pack No. 44; Ronald Harris, Scout Troop No. 42; Charles Crowe, Eagle Scout, and Explorer of Troop No. 48; Adam Baer Jr., Life Scout of Explorer Post No. 52; Phillip Beaman, Troop No. 48, and Gerald Snelson, Cub Pack No. 30.

Beaman, Baer and Snelson of this group spoke at the morning service Sunday at Welsh Memorial Baptist Church. Dr. Dunkle, a member of the extension committee of Mt. District Potomac Council, stated the appearance of these boys as public speakers before local civic groups is the first time an attempt to publicize Boy Scout activities by this method has been tried. Groups interested in securing a team consisting of any number of trained scouts to address their organizations are asked to contact Dr. Dunkle or Kenneth Crowe, chairman of Mt. District.

Among the guests attending the appreciation dinner last evening was Willis Smith, scout executive of Potomac Council.

Reach Agreement In Court Case

SOMERSET, Pa. — An agreement between the court and counsel for both the plaintiff and defendant in the case of David C. Jones, Grantsville, Md., against the W&R Corporation, of Duquesne, Pa., settled the law suit satisfactorily.

The plaintiff brought suit against the W&R Corporation to recover $698.95, which was the amount of a fine he had to pay while employed by the W&R Corporation as their superintendent.

David Jones was arrested November 17, 1952, approximately seven miles west of Frostburg, Md., for hauling heavy equipment without a permit. He claims he was instructed by his employers to move the equipment from the Mineral Coal Company in Jennings, Md., to the corporation's strip job. He maintained his employers never suggested that he get a permit for hauling the equipment. The defendants claimed they did.

The defendant in a counter-suit claimed money for coal which plaintiff sold from his employer's strip job while the job was supposed to be temporarily shut down.

At present we have on our cable two channels, Johnstown, WJAC, and Harrisburg, WSA. According to officials of Harrisburg, they will carry baseball this spring and summer.

Channel 4, Washington, can also be received at our master Antenna location. We can put that channel on our cable. Our equipment will handle 4 channels. We are ready now to begin stringing our cable on the Potomac Edison poles. By attaching to these poles we will be able to reach all homes in Barton.

We will use coaxial cable, not open wire or not tubular cable in Barton. Coaxial cable (some type used by upper Potomac Television Company, Piedmont) will not radiate and cause interference on sets operated from an antenna. Coaxial cable will not pick up static ignition or other electrical noises. It brings you trouble-free reception.

Liability and property damage insurance is being carried, therefore we should not encounter any difficulty in crossing the railroad tracks.

We feel confident in saying that we think you will be glad you waited for our cable television.

Church Addition To Be Dedicated At Lonaconing

Concert Planned Tomorrow Night

LONACONING — The Christian Education building, a new addition to the First Presbyterian Church, will be formally dedicated Friday, February 26, at 7:30 p. m.

At the dedication ceremonies, Rev. Robert S. Meyers, renowned for his youth education church work, of Boys Haven, Baltimore, will be the speaker for the occasion.

The presentation of the new Education building to the church will be made by Robert D. Peebles, president of the Board of Trustees, Acceptance in behalf of the church will be made by Lowell M. Sowers, president of the Session.

Members have gifted a large number of chairs, and more chairs will be received for the new building.

As a prelude to this formal dedication, a choral and organ concert will be presented at the church tomorrow at 7:30 p. m.

Miss Verna Miller is directress of the Adult Choir and Miss Dorothy Brown is organist.

The following program by the choir will be presented: "Savior Lead Me;" "The Lord's Prayer;" featuring Harold W. Moyer, soloist; "This Is My Father's World;" "Near To The Heart of God;" "Out of the Storm;" and "Thy Name We Adore."

A duet will be sung by Mrs. John Turnbull and Mrs. George Gardner in the number, "God's Tomorrow."

Organ presentations by Miss Brown include, "The Light of the World;" "Melody of Hope;" "Jesus Savior Pilot Me;" "Living For Jesus;" and Miss Patty Ann Davis will play "The Robe of Calvary."

The offertory number will be "In the Garden," Miles.

The choir has made up this program from a list of request numbers submitted by members of the congregation. The offering taken at this concert, along with funds from the sale of baked goods will be used to help pay for carpet for the choir loft.

Mt. Savage Personals

Brig. Gen. Joseph Caldara who has been visiting his mother, for the past week will leave this morning for his Far East Command.

Lt. James T. O'Rourke of Fort Meade; Michael J. O'Rourke, of Laurel and John J. O'Rourke, Hyattsville returned after attending the funeral of their aunt Mrs. Margaret Malloy, Cumberland.

Miss Janet Poland accompanied by her parents Mr. and Mrs. Harry Poland returned to Maryland University after spending the mid semester vacation at her home.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nader was baptized in St. George's Church by the pastor Rev. G. Stanley Schwind and was given the name of Carol Richard. Sponsors are William Nader and Mrs. Richard Beach.

The Young People's Fellowship will meet in the Guild Room of St. George's Church at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday and St. Margaret's Guild will meet in the Rectory at 7:30 p. m.

Miss Margaret Reagan is reported improving at Sacred Heart Hospital where she underwent a major operation Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Malloy have moved from the Blank apartments to the Porter home on Railroad Street.

Court Theresa, Catholic Daughters of America will meet at 8 p. m., Wednesday in St. Patrick's Hall, Mt. Savage.

With texture in mind, and to guard against cracking and withering, avoid "fixing" your lipstick by applying it over either powder or a dry, powdery foundation. The lips have no oil of their own and

YOU'RE DOING!

If you have stay-on trouble, check your habits. Do you "eat" your lipstick away? Do you constantly wet your lips? Do you grimace with your mouth as you talk? Do you bite your lips? Any of these practices rob your lips of beauty, rob your appearance of poise and distort your lip line in addition to making your lipstick vanish!

South complained about his hard luck of having no second dummy entry to finesse a second time. Almost hopelessly, he gave up the J to the K, and East's spade 6 to the A enabled West also to score the 8 and 5 to beat the contract.

J, which the K won. South won the diamond A and led the Q to East's K.

East sent back the diamond 9 to South, who then scored two more diamond tricks. He led to the club A, scored the spade J and led the club 5. East came in with the K, but now couldn't help give South the last two tricks. He led a club, whereupon the Q and the heart A finished the hand.

Sale of Auto Tags Begins February 23

Maryland auto license tags for 1954 will be placed on sale at the office of Tax Collector Ernest B. Treat in the Allegheny County Court House, Tuesday, February 23.

Treat said that is about the time when applications will be mailed to car owners by the Department of Motor Vehicles.

Again this year there will be only one tag, but it will be the last one for a while. The Maryland State Police and the Legislative Council, largely on MSP recommendation, have reported favorably on a return to the two-plate custom for 1955.

The one-tag system was started in 1953, but it proved highly unpopular with the State Police. Display of a single license tag on the rear of a vehicle makes identification of a Maryland car difficult, officers say.

The 1954 Maryland plates are orange with black numerals and letters.

For passenger car and motorcycle renewals, applications will be mailed to all registered motorists by the Department of Motor Vehicles by the latter part of this month.

The new tags may be displayed on passenger cars March 1 or anytime during that month and their use is mandatory after midnight March 31. For commercial vehicles, the dates are April 1 and April 30.

Aircraft Stocks Advance, Rails, Steels Lose Ground

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP) — The Stock Market steadied today after first favoring the plus and then the minus column. Aircrafts found solid support while most railroads and steels lost ground.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks declined 20 cents at $114.50 with the industrial component off 20 cents, rails off 40 cents and utilities unchanged. However, there were more stocks advancing than declining, 495 to 414, as 1,191 issues changed hands. There were 88 new 1953-54 highs against only two new lows.

Highlighting the otherwise commonplace session was a dramatic demand for RKO pictures common. Last night Howard Hughes offered to buy all the company's assets including outstanding common at six dollars a share. By this morning, orders flooded the floor of the exchange, causing a two-hour delay before sellers could be found to satisfy about 15,000 separate buy orders.

About noon a block of 200,000 shares of RKO common changed hands at 5 1/2, a new high and 2 1/2 points above Friday's close. By the close, the price had declined to 5 1/4.

The day's volume in RKO Pictures common of 487,200 shares helped push sales above two million shares for the third consecutive session. "Big board" volume totaled 2,180,000 shares against 2,030,000 Friday.

Miss Myers Awarded Gold Watch For Service At Amelle

Pauline C. Myers, 70 Knobley Street, Ridgeley, was awarded a gold watch upon at Amelle by R. F. Thompson, Plant Manager, on the anniversary of her quarter century of service with Celanese.

She is a relief operator in the Textile Quality Evaluation Department. Her sister, Susan, who has been in the Down-Twisting Section for more than 25 years, is the regular operator on the same shift.

Byron O. Waite, Superintendent of Textile, presented Miss Myers an engraved certificate and a gold 5-star Celanese emblem to mark the event.

In addition to an interest in sewing and crocheting, Miss Myers is also enthusiastic about the outdoor sports of hunting and fishing.

March Of Dimes Fund Total Is $17,982.73

Final Tabulation Exceeds Expectations

Allegany County's March of Dimes this year exceeds all previous Polio Fund drives, it was disclosed last night as Mrs. Lester R. McGill, county chairman filed a final report of $17,982.73 as the grand total.

This figure, she explained, includes all money contributed in all parts of the county, collected in the Mothers March, from schools, churches, benefit activities, mail solicitation, coil containers and volunteer gifts.

"It is impossible," she exclaimed to thank each chairman and worker and contributor individually. But it appears that everyone was enthusiastic, put in long hours of hard work, and really did the task assigned to them."

Mrs. McGill especially praised the results of the Mothers March, of which Mrs. Ralph Isiminger was chairman, the results in Cumberland and South Cumberland, organized by Charles N. Wilkinson and Victor M. Hebb, and the efforts of every community and division chairman in the month-long effort.

She also said that the publicity by press and radio was exceptionally good and said she is grateful for this cooperation.

In breaking down the final report, Mrs. McGill explained that an effort was made to allocate to each community in the county, all the money contributed from that county, whether it came by mail, from schools, organizations, the Mothers March or benefits.

The final tabulation shows:

Cumberland	$10,066.20
Frostburg	2,500.00
Lonaconing	1,010.00
Westernport	1,000.00
LaVale	747.88
Barton	700.00

Brunt Of Heavy Area Snowfall Bypasses City

Storm Strikes West,
Roads Are Hazardous

Cumberland once more escaped the full fury of a sudden snowstorm which whipped through Maryland, leaving westernmost counties and bordering states under a blanket of white which is expected to measure from four to eight inches deep.

The Queen City shivered as temperatures dropped to freezing during the day but very little snow fell in the city limits. Mostly flurries plagued motorists and pedestrians in Cumberland throughout the day as winds whipped over the flakes before they settled. Road conditions became very hazardous.

Six Inches Fall

Although surrounding areas reported snowfalls of as much as six inches yesterday Cumberland had only .2 of an inch recorded at the weather bureau station at Constitution Park. The mercury slipped to 21 degrees during the 24-hour period after registering a high of 35. Humidity was recorded at 96 per cent.

The weather bureau said the force of the squall would be all over today except for the western tip of the state in Garrett County where flurries are expected to continue. Garrett, already buried under four to five inches from previous snows when the latest storm moved into the state, had nearly three additional inches on top of the old snow by late evening yesterday. Barring Pennsylvania counties reported to 8 inches of snow and freezing temperatures.

State Police said road conditions west of Red Hill, about seven miles from Cumberland, were so hazardous they advised motorists not to travel unless absolutely necessary.

Road Crews Out

The State Road Commission had ploughing and cinder crews out in full force to keep main highways open to traffic in the counties which were hardest hit.

In Garrett and Allegany counties at least 15 SRC cinder crews were working full tilt keeping the highways open. Temperatures throughout Garrett were in the low 20's and heavy winds were blowing the snow in obscuring swirls. Roads west of Frostburg were extremely icy and almost entirely covered with snow while east of the city ice was forming on the mountains.

Blue Ridge bus line drivers reported driving extremely hazardous and buses from an hour to 1½ hours late. Buses coming from the east over the mountains lost from 45 to 55 minutes on the leg from Hagerstown to Cumberland.

Baltimore and Ohio and Western Maryland railroads reported snow three to six inches deep along their routes although trains were still on schedule.

Temperatures ranged from 22 degrees at Deal, Pa., to 34 at Conellsville. Snow was still falling late last night at Rockwood, Pa., Thomas and Elkins, W. Va. Thomas reported at least six inches of new snow with more expected.

Carrying the brunt of the storm in the state were Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties. Freezing temperatures and possible showers atop the snow today made the outlook bleak for motorists during the next 48 hours.

Boys Club To Open At S. A. Citadel

The first session of the Salvation Army Boys Club will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the basement of the Salvation Army Citadel.

Capt. Daniel K. Biggs, commander, said some three dozen youths are expected to enroll in the club tonight.

The public is invited to attend. A number of members of the Salvation Army Advisory Board will also be present.

Dr. Byrd Will Address Food Dealers February 17

The Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland will inaugurate a series of monthly dinner meetings February 17 when Dr. Harry C. "Curly" Byrd, retired president of the University of Maryland, will be the principal speaker.

Dr. Byrd's talk will mark his first public appearance in Allegany County since he announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Maryland. However, his remarks are billed as a non-partisan program.

The dinner meeting will be held at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, February 17, at the LaVale Fire Hall.

Young GOPs Meet Speaker

Attorneys Plan Citizenship Talks In County Schools

Members of the Allegany County Bar Association will speak in county schools during American Citizenship Week, William L. Wilson, chairman of the group's American Citizenship Committee, announced yesterday.

Citizenship Week is celebrated each year between Lincoln's birthday, February 12, and Washington's birthday, February 22. Between these dates the bar members speak on "Citizenship" at various school assemblies.

Wilson said lawyers last year gave talks at Allegany High School, Fort Hill High School and LaSalle High School, but the program this year has been broadened to include additional schools.

Trial Magistrate Donald W. Donald W. Mason will address a student assembly at LaSalle High School at 11 a. m. on February 17. On February 22, three area attorneys will address different institutions in the district. George R. Hughes Jr. will speak at Allegany High School at 10:45 a. m.; Matthew J. Mullaney, president of the county bar association, will talk at 11:30 a. m. at Fort Hill High School, and Leslie J. Clark will address the assembly at Valley High School, Lonaconing, at 2 p. m.

Julius E. Schindler will speak to a pupil assembly at LaSalle High School at 11 a. m. on February 17. On February 22, three area attorneys will address different institutions in the district. George R. Hughes Jr. will speak at Allegany High School at 10:45 a. m.; Matthew J. Mullaney, president of the county bar association, will talk at 11:30 a. m. at Fort Hill High School, and Leslie J. Clark will address the assembly at Valley High School, Lonaconing, at 2 p. m.

Carolus was awarded $270.73 for damages to his vehicle caused in a collision with an auto driven by Goldie C. Hare and owned by her husband, Russell A. Hare. The case was heard before Judge Ernest A. See.

The first witness heard in the jury trial was Carolus who sought $300 damages, the same amount asked in a suit filed by the Hares. Carolus, represented by Attorneys James H. Swadley Jr., of Keyser, and William R. Carscaden, Cumberland, said he was approaching a bridge near Springfield at a low rate of speed. He explained his speed was slow because he was maneuvering a curve and his vision was obscured.

On noticing that a station wagon was coming from the bridge at a high rate of speed, Carolus said, he brought his vehicle to a stop. The other auto crashed into his car and continued on approximately 40 feet before coming to a halt.

The Hares, through their counsel, Donald C. Hott, Keyser, and Earl E. Mangas and Milton Gerson, both of Cumberland, denied the facts in Carolus's testimony.

The jurors returned a verdict in favor of the Cumberland man after deliberating about 15 minutes.

Members of the jury included Vance Bacon, Brook Cannon, Dewey Amoruso, Richard Carscaden, Jr., George Ellifritz, Arthur Snider, Harry W. Matthews, Curtis Spitzer, J. H. Boswell, Marshall Hixenbaugh, Lantz Amtower and Charles Umstot.

With his wife, Madelyn, two sons, Paul and Stephen, and a daughter, Carolyn Louise, he is residing at Field Annex during his duty at Sharpe General Hospital.

Clinics Set Thursday

The Health Department will hold child hygiene clinics Thursday at 9 a. m. in Lonaconing and at 10 a. m. in Frostburg.

Michael Finan of Boy Scout Troop No. 6, will speak at the Kiwanis Club luncheon Thursday noon in Central YMCA. He will be introduced by John V. Lindner, Scout leader in charge of public speaking in connection with Boy Scout Week.

The Bedford Road firemen and Ladies Auxiliary will hold a roast beef supper at the fire hall, February 10 from 5 until 8.

The Health Department will hold an immunization clinic today at 10 a. m. in Pennsylvania Avenue School. A heart clinic will be held today from 9 a. m. to noon in City Hall.

The Carver School Parent-Teacher Association will meet today at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium with Mrs. Ernest Stewart presiding. Committees will report.

The Married Couples Club of Centre Street Methodist Church will hold a square dance Friday at 8 p. m. in the church recreation hall in place of the regular monthly meeting.

Alfred H. Benna, Mt. Savage School principal, will speak at the Ridgeley Lions Club meeting today at 6:45 p. m. at the Peraboe Lounge.

Fulton Meyers Post, American Legion, will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the North Mechanic Street post home, according to William S. Jones, adjutant.

Mayor Urges Support Of Heart Fund

County Campaign
Being Organized

Calling on residents to support the fund campaign of the Allegany County Rheumatic Fever and Heart Association and designating Sunday as "Heart Sunday," Mayor Roy W. Eves signed a proclamation yesterday.

The Mayor's proclamation requests full cooperation from churches, schools, civic associations, city employees, social and fraternal organizations and all citizens, in supporting the annual fund campaign.

David Kauffman, president of the association, pointed out yesterday that the drive is just getting underway and funds are needed to continue to supply treatment, care, training and equipment needed by rheumatic fever and other heart patients.

He noted that the Association operates a Heart Clinic here, provides treatment for those unable to pay their way in local and other hospitals, and also employs a full time visiting nurse to assist families in training and properly treating heart patients.

The major portion of funds raised in the county remain in the county, however the Association contributes to the nation-wide program of research sponsored by the American Heart Association.

Mayor Eves, in commenting on the proclamation said, "contributions made by our citizens will be used to fight diseases of the heart and circulation, which are responsible for more deaths than all the other diseases combined."

Robert E. Barnard Jr., local insurance executive, is county chairman and he is now setting up his campaign organization. Barnard said last night volunteers who wish to help in the fund raising program will be welcomed.

Postal Workers To Take Exams

Twenty-six employees of the local post office have registered for Civil Service examinations to be held in two sessions at the post office Saturday.

According to Thomas F. Conlon, postmaster, the tests have been ordered to list qualified personnel for eventual advancement to supervisory positions.

There are no immediate vacancies for any supervisory jobs at the post office, but retirement, resignations and deaths create eventual openings. The supervisory positions include such jobs as superintendent of mails, assistant superintendent of mails, superintendent of Station A, in South Cumberland, e-k in charge of finance and e-k in charge of clerks in the mail division.

Nine letter carriers and 17 postal clerks are to take the exams. One group will be tested at 8:30 a. m. and the other at 1:30 p. m., Conlon said.

Alleged Parole Violator Lodged In County Jail

Louis Donius, city, alleged parole violator, is lodged in Allegany County Jail awaiting a hearing, after being picked up Saturday night by city police on Elder Street pushing a lawnmower.

A parole violation warrant was issued yesterday in Trial Magistrate's Court. Magistrate Donald W. Mason said Donius was convicted last October in Circuit Court on a larceny charge. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris gave him a one year suspended sentence and ordered the man to stay out of Cumberland for five years, he added.

Phone Company To Get Awards For CD Rating

Local Representatives
Earn Recognition

Employees and management of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company here will be honored by state and local officials of Civil Defense tomorrow afternoon, for work done in organizing an efficient Civil Defense program.

C. Walter Haschert, local telephone exchange manager, has been notified that Shirley Ewing state Civil Defense director, and William Barger, county CD director, will personally present a certificate of merit and a pennant of efficiency to the local exchange.

A ceremony has been arranged for tomorrow at 3 p. m. at the telephone company building on South Centre Street, for the formal presentation.

Also coming here to represent the telephone company will be Joseph Cromwell, of Baltimore, telephone company's CD director and a former local manager; accompanied by Joseph A. Mead, also of the Baltimore headquarters of the company.

Haschert said considerable work has been done at the local exchange office and building. There are as many as 130 people working in the building at one time, he noted, plus varying numbers of customers and visitors. It was felt that adequate measures should be taken to meet any and all emergencies, especially those of an air raid.

Rescue squads, first aid teams, fire squads and other units have been organized and trained among the employees. A bell and light system has been installed throughout the building to announce an alert, raid, or emergency. Test drills have been held frequently.

Shelter areas have been designated and notices posted so that anyone in the building can easily find his or her way to a shelter area.

Haschert said emergency equipment is on hand and everything within the scope of Civil Defense suggestions has been done by the company at this and other exchanges to be ready if it is ever necessary.

A recent test was made of the alert system and demonstrations by the various crews were checked by CD officials. This office had one of the highest ratings in the state and the awards to be presented tomorrow are in recognition of this preparedness.

Youths Request Immediate Trial

Two teen-age youths, being held in Allegany County jail under $2,500 bond each on charges of armed robbery, yesterday filed a petition to be tried on criminal information and waived their right to indictment by the April grand jury.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher said yesterday the two boys, Charles Russell Calhoun, 131 Poca Street, and John Vincent Green, Henry Street, asked for immediate trial on charges of the theft of $30 from Herman Arthur Shook, 51, of Town Creek Road on January 17.

Trial has been set for Monday, February 15, in Allegany County Circuit Court at 10 a. m. Thomas N. Berry has been appointed by the court to act as counsel for the boys.

Berry said last night Fletcher has indicated he will charge the two with assault with a deadly weapon, robbery, assault with intent to rob and with simple assault. The defense attorney gave no indication whether he would seek a trial by jury or trial by court.

Eugene Lepley, 31, of 616 North Centre Street, will be tried this morning at 9:15 o'clock in Circuit Court on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to rob. This will be a re-trial because of a hung jury when the case was tried before Judge George Henderson January 25.

Lepley has been released on $1,000 bond on the charge of attempting to rob James Ryan, 42, of Ellerslie on November 25. Edw. M. Horschler is attorney for the defense.

IN CIVIC PLAY—Mrs. Colleen Lapp, R. N., plays the part of nurse to a broken down cowboy movie star in the Cumberland Civic Theatre's production of "Boy Meets Girl" to be staged Friday at 8:15 p. m. in Allegany High School Auditorium. She is a graduate of Everett, Pa., High School, 1948, and Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, and is the wife of Raymond Lapp Jr.

New Court Clerk In Hagerstown Resigns Post

Black Quits Duties
Because Of Illness

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Feb. 8 (AP)—John R. R. Black, sworn in last Thursday as clerk of the Washington County Circuit Court, resigned today, saying an examination over the week-end disclosed he has a heart condition.

Black's appointment had touched off a squabble among the three judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit. He was named by two Republican judges at Cumberland, Chief Judge Joseph Mish, at Hagerstown, had recommended one of two veteran Democrats.

Black's letter to Mish said his resignation would "become effective at the court's earliest convenience." It would be up to Mish to name an acting clerk until a new interim clerk is named. A permanent clerk is to be elected in November to succeed J. Guy Weagley, who died.

Black had been sworn in by Associate Judge George Henderson. He also was backed by the other Cumberland Republican Judge Morgan Harris. Mish did not attend the swearing in. He had mentioned deputies Edward Heimer and G. Merlin Snyder as possible appointees. Both had been deputies for 30 years.

Right after Black was sworn in, John Hartle, a deputy clerk for 15 years, resigned, saying he had been thinking about quitting politics for some time.

In his letter Black said "in agreeing to accept the interim appointment I believed that I would be physically able to perform the duties of office and undertake a campaign in the coming election. Over the weekend, however, a physical examination disclosed that I am suffering from a heart condition which requires immediate and prolonged rest and a sharp reduction in my future activities."

Requires Rest

His letter said "I regret any inconvenience which may result." Black told newsmen he did not know now whether he would be a candidate for the permanent post.

Judge Mish, in opposing the appointment, said he wanted it to go to a career man. The Republican State Central committee in a statement after Black was sworn, said he was selected so as to give him an opportunity to gain some experience in office before the election. He was the first GOP clerk named since 1908.

Mish said he could not comment immediately on any plans to name an acting clerk. Judge Henderson is in Florida and there was no immediate comment from Judge Harris.

Filter Plant Improvement Plans Arrive

12 Original Units
Will Be Modernized

Contract forms, plans and specifications for a project designed to complete the modernization of the Lake Gordon filtration plant were delivered to city officials yesterday by Robert T. Regester, Baltimore consulting engineer.

Major points in the project include the modernization of 12 four-decade old filters, installation of two contact basins to speed the filtering process, a new building to house the filters and a number of minor incidental projects.

The upcoming project will virtually complete the modernization of the filtration plant. The first phase, completed last July, included the installation of six new 1,000,000 gallon a day filter units and a building to house the new units. Cost of the project was $237,210.

Details of the second phase were explained by Regester yesterday to Water Commissioner William J. Edwards, Mayor Roy W. Eves, City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, Assistant Engineer William Mearns and George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the water plant.

To Boost Capacity

The project, Regester said, will give the city 18 modern filters, each with a capacity of a million gallons of water a day.

This will boost daily capacity to 18,000,000 gallons of water daily, and more if necessary, since all of the units are built to operate under a 25 per cent overload.

As an economy measure, Regester has provided electrically powered controls on only six of the 12 filters which will be modernized. He said several of the units will be kept in reserve normally, and that valves can be operated by hand when needed.

The work will not interfere with the city's water supply, since at least 12 filters must be kept in operation at all times.

The modernized filter units will be housed in a one-story building, lighted by day from corrugated glass skylights.

Motor driven wash water pumps are to be provided to speed the operation of the plant, and all filters will have modern rate controllers such as were installed in the six new filters units last year.

Includes New Basins

Two 45 foot contact basins are to be provided in the contract. These serve as mixing, flocculation and settling basins which remove much of the sediment before water is fed into the filters.

A motor driven wash water pump included in the project will also speed the filtering process. Regester said a reserve pump may be added later when funds are available.

The existing machine room is also to be modernized, and some obsolete machinery junked.

New filtering materials are to be placed in the units. Some of the anthracite coal used to filter the water has been in use for 43 years. Other phases include a new boiler to heat the plant and a water tank to furnish water for use in the superintendent's home and for fire protection.

Committees Named At Lions Meeting

Members were appointed to the sports car show program committee and the father-son-daughter banquet committee at a meeting of the board of directors of the Lions Club of Cumberland last week.

Heading the sports car show committee will be Woodward Pealer with Ernest Treat and Karl Bachman as his assistants. Members of the banquet committee include Thomas Blash, chairman, and Gordon Bowie, Gordon Leatherman, Andrew Saliga, Jack Seither and Oscar Wolfe.

Henry Duke, chairman of the Charter Night Party, reported arrangements for the affair March 4 and the board contributed $50 to the YMCA Youth and Government program.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Baker, 289 East Main Street, Frostburg, announce the birth of a daughter Saturday night in Miners Hospital. Baker is on the advertising staff of the Times and Allegany Company, city.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Smith, 12 Blocher Street, Ridgeley, a daughter yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. William E. Helmick, Mt. Savage, a son yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lerol R. Robertson, Midlothian, a son Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Hill, Rome, Ohio, a daughter Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold D. Sisler, Burlington, a son Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Duane W. Johnson, 121½ Virginia Avenue, a daughter Saturday.

James A. Jackson, of 627 Elwood Street, assistant chief of the City Fire Department, was discharged from Sacred Heart Hospital yesterday. He was admitted for observation last week.

Magistrates Not Permitted To Cut Sentences

Partial Suspensions
Out, State Claims

Local magistrates have been informed of an opinion from the Attorney General's office that partial suspensions of fines or jail sentences in motor vehicle violation cases are illegal and that the minimum sentence by law must be fulfilled or suspended in its entirety.

In a letter written to Magistrate J. Milton Dick by O. R. E. McGee, comptroller of the State Department of Motor Vehicles, the view of the Attorney General's office was forwarded in the form of an enclosed copy of a letter to an Annapolis magistrate in which the opinion was expressed as to the legality of suspending portions of a minimum sentence as required by law.

The letter written to the Annapolis magistrate stated that only Baltimore magistrates now had the authority to pronounce sentences less than the minimum as stated in the Maryland Code for traffic violations.

The opinion, signed by the assistant attorney general, continued that partial suspensions were therefore illegal and that the sentence must be carried out in full or suspended in full at the time the case is tried.

Magistrate Donald W. Mason said yesterday that very few partial suspensions are handed out in Trial Magistrate's Court here. The two magistrates, Mason and Dick, do on special occasions partially suspend a fine or sentence.

"It's done only in cases of hardship to a family," Mason continued, "where we feel that, say a minimum of 30 days in jail would create too much of a burden for a man's family, so we sentence him to 10 days or fine him accordingly."

Asked what the

March Of Dimes Fund Total Is $17,982.73

Final Tabulation Exceeds Expectations

Allegany County's March of Dimes this year exceeds all previous Polio Fund drives, it was disclosed last night as Mrs. Lester R. McGill, county chairman filed a final report of $17,982.73 as the grand total.

This figure, she explained, includes all money contributed in all parts of the county, collected in the Mothers March, from schools, churches, benefit activities, mail solicitation, coil containers and volunteer gifts.

"It is impossible," she exclaimed to thank each chairman and worker and contributor individually. But it appears that everyone was enthusiastic, put in long hours of hard work, and really did the task assigned to them."

Mrs. McGill especially praised the results of the Mothers March, of which Mrs. Ralph Isminger was chairman, the results in Cumberland and South Cumberland, organized by Charles N. Wilkinson and Victor M. Hebb, and the efforts of every community and division chairman in the month-long effort.

She also said that the publicity by press and radio was exceptionally good and said she is grateful for this cooperation.

In breaking down the final report, Mrs. McGill explained that an effort was made to allocate to each community in the county, all the money contributed from that county, whether it came by mail, from schools, organizations, the Mothers March or benefits.

The final tabulation shows:

Cumberland	$10,066.20
Frostburg	2,500.00
Lonaconing	1,010.00
Westernport	1,000.00
LaVale	747.88
Barton	700.00
Mt. Savage	530.99
Cresaptown	467.28
Flinstone	333.41
Midland	263.32
Ellerslie	186.89
Corriganville	94.31
Oldtown	82.45

Local magistrates have been informed of an opinion from the Attorney General's office that partial suspensions of fines or jail sentences in motor vehicle violation cases are illegal and that the minimum sentence by law must be fulfilled or suspended in its entirety.

In a letter written to Magistrate J. Milton Dick by O. R. E. McGeeney, comptroller of the State Department of Motor Vehicles, the view of the Attorney General's office was forwarded in the form of an enclosed copy of a letter to an Annapolis magistrate in which the opinion was expressed as to the legality of suspending portions of a minimum sentence as required by law.

The letter written to the Annapolis magistrate stated that only Baltimore magistrates now had the authority to pronounce sentences less than the minimum as stated in the Maryland Code for traffic violations.

Asked what the local courts would do in the face of the present Attorney General's opinion, Mason answered, "Cases which we believe will be a hardship will have to be suspended in full, I suppose, unless laws are enacted which will give us the same authority as Baltimore magistrates to give less than the minimum sentence."

Dick commented dryly, "It's rather foolish to say a magistrate cannot suspend a part of a sentence when he is permitted to suspend the full sentence if he so desires."

The Weather

Three to six inches of snow fell in communities surrounding Cumberland, but the Queen City escaped with only .2 inches, which had melted by late last night. High temperature yesterday was 35 degrees, according to Constitution Park weather station; low was 21, and at 7:45 p. m., thermometers leveled at 32 degrees. Humidity at 6 p. m. was 96 per cent. Forecast for today is considerable cloudiness and windy with a few snow flurries, turning colder tonight.

UNOFFICIAL DOWNTOWN TEMPERATURES
1 p. m.	38
2 p. m.	38
3 p. m.	37
4 p. m.	36

Brunt Of Heavy Area Snowfall Bypasses City

Storm Strikes West, Roads Are Hazardous

Cumberland once more escaped the full fury of a sudden snowstorm which whipped through Maryland, leaving westernmost counties and bordering states under a blanket of white which is expected to measure from four to eight inches deep.

The Queen City shivered as temperatures dropped to freezing during the day but very little snow fell in the city limits. Mostly flurries plagued motorists and pedestrians in Cumberland throughout the day as winds whipped up the flakes before they settled. Road conditions became very hazardous.

Six Inches Fall

Although surrounding areas reported snowfalls of as much as six inches yesterday Cumberland had only .2 of an inch recorded at the weather bureau station at Constitution Park. The mercury slipped to 21 degrees during the 24-hour period after registering a high of 35. Humidity was recorded at 96 per cent.

The weather bureau said the force of the squall would be all over today except for the western tip of the state in Garrett County where flurries are expected to continue.

Garrett, already buried under four to five inches from previous snows when the latest storm moved into the state, had nearly three additional inches on top of the old snow by late evening yesterday. Barring Pennsylvania counties reported 6 to 8 inches of snow and freezing temperatures.

State Police said road conditions west of Red Hill, about seven miles from Cumberland, were so hazardous they advised motorists not to travel unless absolutely necessary.

Road Crews Out

The State Road Commission had ploughing and cinder crews out in full force to keep main highways open to traffic in the counties which were hardest hit.

In Garrett and Allegany counties at least 15 SRC cinder crews were working full tilt to keep the highways open. Temperatures throughout Garrett were in the low 20's and heavy winds were blowing the snow in obscuring swirls. Roads west of Frostburg were extremely icy and almost entirely covered with snow while east of the city ice was forming on the mountains.

Blue Ridge bus line drivers reported driving extremely hazardous and buses from the west were traveling from an hour to 1½ hours late. Buses coming from the east over the mountains lost from 40 to 55 minutes on the leg from Hagerstown to Cumberland.

Baltimore and Ohio and Western Maryland railroads reported snow three to six inches deep along their routes although trains were still on schedule.

Temperatures ranged from 22 degrees at Deal, Pa., to 34 at Conneville. Snow was still falling late last night at Rockwood, Pa., Thomas, and Elkins, W. Va. Thomas reported at least six inches of new snow with more expected.

Carrying the brunt of the storm in the state were Garrett, Allegany, Washington and Frederick counties. Freezing temperatures and possible showers after the snow today made the outlook bleak for motorists during the next 48 hours.

Boys Club To Open At S. A. Citadel

The first session of the Salvation Army Boys Club will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the basement of the Salvation Army Citadel.

Capt. Daniel K. Biggs, commander, said some three dozen youths are expected to enroll in the club tonight.

The public is invited to attend. A number of members of the Salvation Army Advisory Board will also be present.

Dr. Byrd Will Address Food Dealers February 17

The Independent Retail Food Dealers Association of Western Maryland will inaugurate a series of monthly dinner meetings February 17 when Dr. Harry C. "Curly" Byrd, retired president of the University of Maryland, will be the principal speaker.

Dr. Byrd's talk will mark his first public appearance in Allegany County since he announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Maryland. However, his remarks are billed as a non-partisan program.

The dinner meeting will be held at 6:30 p. m. Wednesday, February 17, at the LaVale Fire Hall.

Attorneys Plan Citizenship Talks In County Schools

Members of the Allegany County Bar Association will speak in county schools during American Citizenship Week, William L. Wilson, chairman of the group's American Citizenship Committee, announced yesterday.

Citizenship Week is celebrated each year between Lincoln's birthday, February 12, and Washington's birthday, February 22. Between these dates the bar members speak on "Citizenship" at various school assemblies.

Wilson said lawyers last year gave talks at Allegany High School, Fort Hill High School and LaSalle High School, but the program this year has been broadened to include additional schools.

Trial Magistrate Donald W. Donald W. Mason will address a student assembly at Bruce Hill High School, Westernport, at 12:30 p. m. February 12, and Edward J. Ryan will speak to students of Beall High School, Frostburg, at 9 a. m. on February 15.

Julius E. Schindler will speak to a pupil assembly at LaSalle High School at 11 a. m. on February 17. On February 22, three area attorneys will address different institutions in the district. George R. Hughes Jr. will speak at Allegany High School at 10:45 a. m.; Matthew J. Mullaney, president of the county bar association, will talk at 11:30 a. m. at Fort Hill High School, and Leslie J. Clark will address the assembly at Valley High School, Lonaconing, at 2 p. m.

Chaplain Boyd W. Davis, 1st Lieutenant in the Chaplain Corps, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. L. Davis, 35 Virginia Avenue, has been assigned to the 34th Quartermaster Battalion at Stockton Annex of Sharpe General Depot, Lathrop, Calif.

Davis entered the Army as a first lieutenant June 10, 1952, in Pasadena, Calif. He served in Korea from January 10, 1953, to October 16, 1953, with the 82nd Anti-aircraft artillery.

His citations and decorations include the United Nations Service Medal, Korean Service Medal, National Defense Service Medal and three bronze service stars.

Chaplain Davis attended Trevecca Nazarene College, Nashville, Tennessee; the Nazarene Theological Seminary, Kansas City, Mo., and Chaplain School at Fort Slocum, N. Y. His hobbies are golf and woodworking.

With his wife, Madelyn, two sons, Paul and Stephen, and a daughter, Carolyn Louise, he is residing at Field Annex during his duty at Sharpe General Depot.

Clinics Set Thursday

The Health Department will hold child hygiene clinics Thursday at 9 a. m. in Lonaconing and at 10 a. m. in Frostburg.

News In Brief

Michael Finan of Boy Scout Troop No. 6, will speak at the Kiwanis Club luncheon Thursday noon in Central YMCA. He will be introduced by John V. Lindner, Scout leader in charge of public speaking in connection with Boy Scout Week.

The Bedford Road firemen and Ladies Auxiliary will hold a roast beef supper at the fire hall, February 10 from 5 until 8.

The Health Department will hold an immunization clinic today at 10 a. m. in Pennsylvania Avenue School. A heart clinic will be held today from 9 a. m. to noon in City Hall.

The Carver School Parent-Teacher Association will meet today at 8 p. m. in the school auditorium with Mrs. Ernest Stewart presiding. Committees will report.

The Married Couples Club of Centre Street Methodist Church will hold a square dance Friday at 8 p. m. in the church recreation hall in place of the regular monthly meeting.

Alfred H. Benna, Mt. Savage School principal, will speak at the Ridgeley Lions Club meeting today at 6:45 p. m. at the Peraboe Lounge.

Mayor Urges Support Of Heart Fund

County Campaign Being Organized

Calling on residents to support the fund campaign of the Allegany County Rheumatic Fever and Heart Association and designating Sunday as "Heart Sunday," Mayor Roy W. Eves signed a proclamation yesterday.

The Mayor's proclamation requests full cooperation from churches, schools, civic associations, city employees, social and fraternal organizations and all citizens, in supporting the annual fund campaign.

David Kauffman, president of the association, pointed out yesterday that the drive is just getting underway and funds are needed to continue to supply treatment, care, training and equipment needed by rheumatic fever and other heart patients.

He noted that the Association operates a Heart Clinic here, provides treatment for those unable to pay their way in local and other hospitals, and also employs a full time visiting nurse to assist families in training and properly treating heart patients.

The major portion of funds raised in the county remain in the county, however the Association contributes to the nation-wide program of research sponsored by the American Heart Association.

Mayor Eves, in commenting on the proclamation said, "contributions made by our citizens will be used to fight diseases of the heart and circulation, which are responsible for more deaths than all the other diseases combined."

Robert E. Barnard Jr., local insurance executive, is county chairman and he is now setting up his campaign organization. Barnard said last night volunteers who wish to help in the fund raising program will be welcomed.

Postal Workers To Take Exams

Twenty-six employees of the local post office have registered for Civil Service examinations to be held in two sessions at the post office Saturday.

According to Thomas F. Conlon, postmaster, the tests have been ordered to list qualified personnel for eventual advancement to supervisory positions.

There are no immediate vacancies for any supervisory jobs at the post office, but retirement, resignations and deaths create eventual openings.

The supervisory positions include such jobs as superintendent of mails, assistant superintendent of mails, superintendent of Station A, in South Cumberland, chief in charge of finance and foreman of clerks in the mail division.

Nine letter carriers and 17 postal clerks are to take the exams. One group will be tested at 8:30 a. m. and the other at 1:30 p. m., Conlon said.

Alleged Parole Violator Lodged In County Jail

Louis Donius, city, alleged parole violator, is lodged in Allegany County Jail awaiting a hearing, after being picked up Saturday night by city police on Elder Street pushing a lawnmower.

A parole violation warrant was issued yesterday in Trial Magistrate's Court. Magistrate Donald W. Mason said Donius was convicted last October in Circuit Court on a larceny charge. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris gave him a one year suspended sentence and ordered the man to stay out of Cumberland for five years, he added.

Phone Company To Get Awards For CD Rating

Local Representatives Earn Recognition

Employees and management of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company here will be honored by state and local officials of Civil Defense tomorrow afternoon, for work done in organizing an efficient Civil Defense program.

C. Walter Haschert, local telephone exchange manager, has been notified that Shirley Ewing state Civil Defense director, and William Barger, county CD director, will personally present a certificate of merit and a pennant of efficiency to the local exchange.

A ceremony has been arranged for tomorrow at 3 p. m. at the telephone company building on South Centre Street, for the formal presentation.

Also coming here to represent the telephone company will be Joseph Cromwell, of Baltimore, telephone company's CD director and a former local manager; accompanied by Joseph A. Mead, also of the Baltimore headquarters of the company.

Haschert said considerable work has been done at the local exchange office and building. There are as many as 130 people working in the building at one time, he noted, plus varying numbers of customers and visitors. It was felt that adequate measures should be taken to meet any and all emergencies, especially those of an air raid.

Rescue squads, first aid teams, fire squads and other units have been organized and trained among the employees. A bell and light system has been installed throughout the building to announce an alert, raid, or emergency. Test drills have been held frequently.

Shelter areas have been designated and notices posted so that anyone in the building can easily find his or her way to a shelter area.

Haschert said emergency equipment is on hand and everything within the scope of Civil Defense suggestions has been done by the company at this and other exchanges to be ready if it is ever necessary.

A recent test was made of the alert system and demonstrations by the various crews were checked by CD officials. This office had one of the highest ratings in the state and the awards to be presented tomorrow are in recognition of this preparedness.

Youths Request Immediate Trial

Two teen-age youths, being held in Allegany County Jail under $2,500 bond each on charges of armed robbery, yesterday filed a petition to be tried on criminal information and waived their right to indictment by the April grand jury.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher said yesterday the two boys, Charles Russell Calhoun, 131 Paca Street, and John Vincent Green, Henry Street, asked for immediate trial on charges of the theft of $30 from Herman Arthur Shook, 51, of Town Creek Road on January 17.

Trial has been set for Monday, February 15, in Allegany County Circuit Court at 10 a. m. Thomas N. Berry has been appointed by the court to act as counsel for the boys.

Berry said last night Fletcher has indicated he will charge the two with assault with a deadly weapon, robbery, assault with intent to rob and with simple assault. The defense attorney gave no indication whether he would seek a trial by jury or trial by court.

Eugene Lepley, 31, of 616 North Centre Street, will be tried this morning at 9:15 o'clock in Circuit Court on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to rob. This will be a re-trial because of a hung jury when the case was tried before Judge George Henderson January 25.

Lepley has been released on $1,000 bond on the charge of attempting to rob James Ryan, 42, of Ellerslie on November 23. Edwin M. Horchler is attorney for the defense.

New Court Clerk In Hagerstown Resigns Post

Black Quits Duties Because Of Illness

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Feb. 8 (AP)—John R. R. Black, sworn in last Thursday as clerk of the Washington County Circuit Court, resigned today, saying an examination over the week-end disclosed he has a heart condition.

Black's appointment had touched off a squabble among the three judges of the Fourth Judicial Circuit. He was named by two Republican judges at Cumberland, Chief Judge Joseph Mish, at Hagerstown, had recommended one of two veteran Democrats.

Writes Letter

Black's letter to Mish said his resignation would "become effective at the court's earliest convenience." It would be up to Mish to name an acting clerk until a new interim clerk is named. A permanent clerk is to be elected in November to succeed J. Guy Weagley, who died.

Black had been sworn in by Associate Judge George Henderson. He also was backed by the other Cumberland Republican Judge Morgan Harris. Mish did not attend the swearing in. He had mentioned deputies Edward Heimerl and G. Merlin Snyder as possible appointees. Both had been deputies for 30 years.

Right after Black was sworn in, John Hartle, a deputy clerk for 15 years, resigned, saying he had been thinking about quitting politics for some time.

In his letter Black said "in agreeing to accept the interim appointment I believed that I would be physically able to perform the duties of office and undertake a campaign in the coming election. Over the weekend, however, a physical examination disclosed that I am suffering from a heart condition which requires immediate and prolonged rest and a sharp reduction in my future activities."

Requires Rest

His letter said "I regret any inconvenience which may result." Black told newsmen he did not know now whether he would be a candidate for the permanent post.

Judge Mish, in opposing the appointment, said he wanted it to go to a career man. The Republican State Circuit committee in a statement after Black was sworn, said he was selected so as to give him an opportunity to gain some experience in office before the election. He was the first GOP clerk named since 1908.

Mish said he could not comment immediately on any plans to name an acting clerk. Judge Henderson is in Florida and there was no immediate comment from Judge Harris.

Clinic Is Planned

The Health Department will hold a child hygiene clinic Wednesday at 9:15 a. m. in Westernport.

Filter Plant Improvement Plans Arrive

12 Original Units Will Be Modernized

Contract forms, plans and specifications for a project designed to complete the modernization of the Lake Gordon filtration plant were delivered to city officials yesterday by Robert T. Regester, Baltimore consulting engineer.

Major points in the project include the modernization of 12 four-decade old filters, installation of two contact basins to speed the filtering process, a new building to house the filters and a number of minor incidental projects.

The upcoming project will virtually complete the modernization of the filtration plant. The first phase, completed last July, included the installation of six new 1,000,000 gallon a day filter units and a building to house the new units. Cost of the project was $237,210.

Details of the second phase were explained by Regester yesterday to Water Commissioner William J. Edwards, Mayor Roy W. Eves, City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, Assistant Engineer William Marean and George M. Hitchcock, superintendent of the water plant.

To Boost Capacity

The project, Regester said, will give the city 18 modern filters, each with a capacity of a million gallons of water a day.

This will boost daily capacity to 18,000,000 gallons of water daily, and more if necessary, since all of the units are built to operate under a 25 per cent overload.

As an economy measure, Regester has provided electrically powered controls on only six of the 12 filters which will be modernized. He said several of the units will be kept in reserve normally, and that valves can be operated by hand when needed.

The work will not interfere with the city's water supply, since at least 12 filters must be kept in operation at all times.

The modernized filter units will be housed in a one-story building, lighted by day from corrugated glass skylights.

Motor driven wash water pumps are to be provided to speed the operation of the plant, and all filters will have modern rate controllers such as were installed in the six new filter units last year.

Includes New Basins

Two 45 foot contact basins are to be provided in the contract. These serve as mixing, flocculation and settling basins which remove much of the sediment before water is fed into the filters.

A motor driven wash water pump included in the project will also speed the filtering process. Regester said a reserve pump may be added later when funds are available.

The existing machine room is also to be modernized, and some obsolete machinery junked.

New filtering materials are to be placed in the units. Some of the anthracite coal used to filter the water has been in use for 43 years.

Other phases include a new boiler to heat the plant and a water tank to furnish water for use in the superintendent's home and for fire protection.

Committees Named At Lions Meeting

Members were appointed to the sports car show program committee and the father-son-daughter banquet committee at a meeting of the board of directors of the Lions Club of Cumberland last week.

Heading the sports car show committee will be Woodward Peeler with Ernest Treat and Karl Bachman as his assistants. Members of the banquet committee include Thomas Blash, chairman, and Gordon Bowie, Gordon Leath, Herman, Andrew Saliga, Jack Siehler and Oscar Wolfe.

Henry Duke, chairman of the Charter Night Party, reported arrangements for the affair March 4 and the board contributed $50 to the YMCA Youth and Government program.

Discuss School Music

W. Valgene Routh, supervisor of music education in county public schools, left, and Dr. Frances Andrews, associate professor of the Music Education Department of Pennsylvania State University, are shown discussing junior high school music programs. Dr. Andrews acted as consultant in the panel discussion last night at Allegany High School. The gathering was the first session of an Allegany County Junior High School Workshop, which will continue today with three demonstrations and several workshop sessions. Routh and Dr. Andrews yesterday visited four county schools to get first-hand impressions of junior high school music programs.
